No More Cold Weather in caster Announces.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The return of spring after one of the latest recorded cold spells is predicted by the Weather Bureau for the whole of the Eastern United States Wednesday.

"It will be a little warmer tomorrow and much warmer Wednesday," said Forecaster C. L. Mitchell. "By the latter part of the week the temperature is likely to be above normal and warm weather prevalent all over the East. No more cold weather is at present in sight."

Below freezing temperatures prevailed generally this morning as far south as Virginia and Kentucky. The coldest place on the map was White River, Ont., with a minimum of 16 below zero.

GARY'S RETIREMENT HINTED AT IN SPEECH TO STOCKHOLDERS

NEW YORK, April 19.—Elbert H. Gary's retirement as chairman of the United States Steel Corporation was foreshadowed in the opinion of many stockholders by his statement at the annual meeting in Hoboken, N. J., today, although he did not definitely state his intentions.

"While we are all strong and vigorous today," he said, "yet we know that in the natural course of events it will soon be time for some of us to say good-by; but whatever happens, be assured we have carefully built up an organization which will assure protection and advancement to the interests of the stockholders of the corporation and this without detriment to the public welfare."

If these were the last utterances of your chairman concerning the officers of the corporation, he would, in behalf of the holders of the securities of the corporation, express to its subsidiaries and their officers and employees words of cordial and grateful appreciation for their high-toned, thoughtful and successful work pertaining to the operations of the properties in their care."

Bishop Denies 90 Pct. of Working Men Violate Dry Law

SUCH RECKONING PURE GUESSWORK, CHURCHMAN SAYS

Senator Reed in Tilt With Mrs. Boole, W. C. T. U. Witness—She Refuses to Answer His Queries.

made the formal ruling that the witness would not be required to answer.

Reed's sarcasm became more and more pointed. "This lady," he said, "is the head of an organization and she comes here to testify like any other witness. She has expressed certain opinions on the benefits of prohibition. I now ask her a leading question as to whether she agrees with a certain statement of facts. It would be a proper question in any court."

"It is not fair to ask her that question," repeated Harrell.

"Oh, all right," said Reed in a tone of immense disgust.

Mrs. Boole, a woman with a very determined chin, repeated her refusal to answer Reed's question.

"So you don't want to tell the committee whether you think those are the facts?" purred Reed.

Mrs. Boole Explains Refusal. "That is the statement of another group," rejoined Mrs. Boole.

"And if you want an opinion on it they should be called in. The W. C. T. U. is not a member of that group."

"The question," said Reed, "is plainly embarrassing both to the chairman of the committee and the witness."

"I won't be a party to a controversy," said Harrell, "but the question is unfair to the witness."

Reed cited statistics of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., which, he said, showed an alarming increase in the deaths from alcoholism in the last year. The witness said she had not seen those statistics or others along the same line to which Reed referred.

"So," went on Reed, "your statistics are not those of organizations which have made it a business to keep track of the health conditions among large groups of people."

The witness said it was probably true that there had been a large recent increase in deaths from alcoholism, but she attributed that condition to lack of adequate law enforcement.

Turns to Home-Distilling. Reed then turned the examination to the matter of home distilling of alcohol. Topping off another clash with Harrell, Reed remarked, "When I can get him (Harrell) out of the prohibition atmosphere and into the clear sunlight of intelligence we agree right along."

Harrell, accepting the olive branch, added that they had been together against the World Court.

Resuming his quizzing of the witness, Reed wanted to know if the manufacture of alcohol in the home was not detrimental to the morals of women and children.

The witness agreed, but started to expand her answer. Reed insisted on a "yes" or "no." He remarked, in parenthesis, that anyone who thought he was for booze or interperence was "madly mistaken."

He had enforced the liquor laws so actively as a prosecutor at Kansas City, he said, that the brewers were after him 24 hours in the day.

"You started right, Senator," said Mrs. Boole. "Your mother was a member of the W. C. T. U."

"No, she wasn't," retorted Reed. "She was the next best thing—a Presbyterian."

Reed recalled the testimony of Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, chief of the prohibition forces, that 176,000 stills were seized by Federal agents in 1925 and that this number probably did not represent one-tenth of the total in operation.

"Let Me Alone," Snaps Reed. "Isn't that a terrible condition?" he asked. "It is a terrible condition," conceded Mrs. Boole, "but."

Reed told the witness to stick to categorical answers. Harrell again came to her aid.

"Let me alone," snapped Reed to the chairman.

"Isn't it worse to have liquor manufactured in the home in the presence of little children?" Reed asked, "than to have it made outside the home?"

"I must deny your premise," retorted the witness, "that all the liquor made in the home is being made in the presence of little children."

"But assume that to be the fact," said Reed. "Isn't it worse to have over 1,000,000 stills operating in the homes than to have liquor made on the outside, even though it may be brought into the home to be drunk?" "I don't think I have to decide as between the two conditions," parried Mrs. Boole.

"But which of the two conditions, in your opinion," demanded Reed, "is the more terrible?" "My observation has been," replied Mrs. Boole, "that in most of the homes where liquor is made there are no children. And the manufacture, moreover, is often done at night."

when the children are not around to see it."

"But assume that my premise is true," insisted Reed again.

"I decline to answer as to my choice between the two," said Mrs. Boole. "Our organization is against the manufacture of liquor, whether in the home or anywhere else."

Her words and the defiant ring in her voice evoked an outburst of applause from a group of women in the back of the room.

"That applause," remarked Reed in the most sarcastic tone he had yet used, "is the most convincing argument we could possibly have. It changes our minds almost instantly."

Turning to the witness, he resumed: "You say that you do not have to make a choice, yet we in Congress have to make a choice, and I am asking you, out of the abundance of your experience, to tell me whether it is better to have liquor manufactured in the home or manufactured under regulation on the outside and sold by licensed dealers?"

"She ought not to have to answer that question," objected Harrell.

Refuses to Accept Either Evil. "Between the two evils," asserted Mrs. Boole, raising her voice, "I do not have to accept either one."

The drys in the audience responded with another round of handclapping.

Reed objected to an afternoon session, saying that he wanted to be in the Senate, but Harrell overruled him.

"All right," said Reed. "It seems that nobody but a dry has any rights here anyway."

Earlier in the testimony of Mrs. Boole objection was raised by Reed to the insertion of a letter she offered from Claude Connally, Commissioner of Labor of the State of Oklahoma. Reed said the committee had already decided not to admit letters and other statements not sworn to. Senator Walsh held that the letter in question was in the nature of an official document and should be admitted. This view, after a long set-to between Reed and the dry members of the committee, prevailed.

Wet Glasses on Dry Senator. During the tiff Reed fumbled for his glasses and couldn't find them.

adequate salaries should be paid to get such men as are qualified to enforce so important and difficult a law.

"Third, that whatever number of men is necessary properly to enforce the law in any section of the country, should be provided for that section."

"Fourth, that the Government should appropriate whatever amount of money may be necessary to enforce the law."

"Fifth, that more stringent penalties should be inflicted upon the violators of the law."

Says He Speaks for 2,600,000. Bishop Cannon told the committee that he spoke for the third largest Protestant denomination in the country, with a membership of more than 2,600,000, with 2,800,000 Sunday school pupils, and about 300,000 members of young people's societies.

He gave it as his opinion that the law should be enforced in the wet sections of the country at no matter what cost in men or money.

"To those opponents of prohibition who are denouncing it because of corruption and graft in connection with the bootlegging traffic," he said, "we would recommend a study of the horrible conditions in the prohibition districts."

"In those days the saloon was the rendezvous, the harboring place, the recruiting station of vice and crime. Its allies were the gambling house and the brothel. Its back parlors and its wherabouts were the avenues of debauchery and ruin of multiplied thousands of women and children."

"The number of girls and boys ruined today by hip pocket flasks are few indeed compared to the slaughter of the innocents in those days. The immorality of the present day arises more from other causes."

Vital Issue Is Return of Saloon. Bishop Cannon told the committee that the question before it was, in the last analysis, whether the saloon was to be permitted to return.

"We are told that a rose by any other name will smell as sweet, and a saloon by any other name will smell the same," he said. "The foul odor that hangs around the word 'saloon' was caused by just one thing—the sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes."

The American people became convinced that the conditions to which I have referred above were the cause of the nation's ills. Necessary consequences of the traffic in intoxicants, and the legislation which has been adopted had for its purpose the elimination of those evils."

"The lawlessness of the liquor traffic compelled the adoption of national prohibition."

Dry Up Wet Spots, He Says. Enforcement of prohibition in the wet centers is essential, the witness declared. "In order that the rest of the country may be protected from the contamination from the lawless, outlawed, defiant liquor traffic and its patrons, high or low, just as one section of the country is protected from the foot and mouth disease among cattle, or chicken and snailpox among persons which may be prevalent in another section."

"Gentlemen have appeared before this committee, and have declared that the prohibition law cannot be enforced," Bishop Cannon added. "Indeed they have gone further than that; they have declared through Senator Bruce on the floor of the Senate itself, that there is an element of the population which will refuse to obey the law, that the affluent classes will have their liquor, Constitution or no Constitution."

"Of course, this is nothing new in the conflict of the people with the liquor traffic and its devotees. They have always declared, either in word or in act, that they will not obey any law which restricts appetite or covetousness."

No Law Universally Obeyed. "I am not here to declare that the Eighteenth Amendment and the provisions of the Volstead Act are either observed or enforced universally. No laws of any kind in any country, not even the Ten Commandments, are universally obeyed. The question at issue is not whether the prohibition law is observed and enforced universally. It is not a question of whether there is an element of the population which defiantly declares through Senator Bruce, that it will have its liquor, Constitution or no Constitution. It is not whether there are multiplied thousands, or even some millions out of the United States, who openly declare that they will gratify their appetites for intoxicants, regardless of its effect upon the general welfare."

"The first great question before this committee is whether the results obtained have demonstrated that the present prohibition law is a better method of promoting the general welfare than any method which has been tried heretofore."

It was noteworthy, Bishop Cannon said, that the testimony presented by the opponents of prohibition had come almost entirely from persons living in "the New York sector" including New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

"Two of these states, Maryland and New York, have utterly refused to pass any State enforcement laws," he said, "and yet the very men in those states who are largely responsible for the failure to pass an enforcement law, are the ones who are loudly and illogically denouncing the failure to enforce the law."

Denies Home Brewing Figures. Reviewing some of the testimony for the wets, he said, he could not be made to believe that 90 per cent of the laboring people of the country are violating the Constitution by the manufacture of intoxicants in their homes.

"As an American citizen," he added, "I repudiate these wholesale assertions as not applying to the great mass of our American people. Certainly, they do not apply to the more than 21,000,000 members of young people's societies, and 30,000,000 members of the Protestant churches."

"There were moonshiners all through the Southern mountains before prohibition and the appetite for alcohol was not destroyed when the prohibitory laws were passed. But outside of the number of stills actually captured by the prohibition officers, all calculation is purely guesswork."

The Bishop heartily endorsed the bill Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, prohibition enforcement chief, to strengthen the Volstead Act, saying the Government should make a clear cut statement that a "lawless minority" shall not be permitted to flout the Constitution.

Christian Scientists Dry. Philip King of the Christian Science Committee on Publication, presented a letter from the committee opposing any change in the Eighteenth Amendment or the Volstead Act. He also filed telegrams from Christian Science churches over the country opposing modification.

2666 Padlock Injunctions Issued in Six-Month Period. By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, April 19.—Padlock injunctions were issued against 2666 establishments between last July 1 and Jan. 1, the Department of Justice disclosed in a formal statement which quoted two United States District Attorneys as commending the law as one of the most potent enforcement weapons. The padlock cases were proportionately greater during the period than during the preceding fiscal year ending July 1, last, when 4313 places were closed.

Unanswerable Only to the President and Mellon, Says Andrews. NEW YORK, April 19.—Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, director of prohibition enforcement, will answer only to Secretary Mellon and President Coolidge concerning his recent testimony before the Senate Prohibition Investigating Committee, he said here yesterday. Andrews, who has been under fire from the drys because of his testimony, came to New York for the week end, he said, to escape persistent and total questioning in Washington. Before returning to Washington he said: "My visit had nothing to do with local prohibition enforcement conditions. I will return to New York later in the week. I will not answer criticisms of any part of my testimony. As an Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, I am responsible to Secretary Mellon and to the President. I have not been asked for any official explanation."

MISSOULINI ASSAILED BY SENATOR WALSH

Premier's Tripoli Speech Bristles With Bellicose Bluster, Montanan Asserts.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, April 19.—The policies and aspirations of Premier Mussolini came under attack again today in the Senate.

Approval of the Italian war debt settlement, Senator Walsh (Dem.) of Montana declared, would "simply assist Mussolini, supreme dictator, to arrange his finances so that he may precipitate another war or master about until the fear of such purpose is general, strengthening his position at home through concessions wrung from feeble, war-worn neighbors that yield to the dread of a renewal of the carnage of which they have such ghastly memories."

"His Tripoli speech," the Montana Senator continued, "bristles with bellicose bluster. The Kaiser never rattled his sabre more ominously. He usually brandished his sword against imaginary enemies about to or yearning to invade the Fatherland. Mussolini's bluster is a call to conquest, to attack, not defense."

"If there were any reasonable grounds for believing that the political, economic and industrial conditions in Italy would be materially improved by approving the settlement, I should be powerfully persuaded to endorse it without any critical analysis to ascertain whether it measured up fully to the tests said to have been applied of Italy's capacity to pay. But I am convinced we have no such assurance."

Walsh concluded by declaring that if the "United States desires to do something for the people of Italy as distinguished from the Government of Italy, let it pull down the tariff wall erected in 1923 to the rates of the Underwood-Simmons act as to the commodities of greatest value and amount imported from that country."

The McCumber tariff, he argued, cost Italian exporters, $4,300,000 in the 1924 fiscal year, or "almost as much as Italy will pay annually, should this bill become law, for the next five years."

COL. WILLIAMS DECLINES TO TESTIFY IN OWN BEHALF

Case Against Marine Officer on Charge of Drunkenness Submitted to Court.

By the Associated Press. SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 19.—Col. Alexander S. Williams, on trial before a military court on a charge of intoxication, refused today to testify in his own behalf. The charge was preferred by Brig.-Gen. Snodgrass D. Butler.

The Judge Advocate, Capt. Leo Hermie, asked Col. Williams if he had any statement to make to the court.

"I have not," said the defendant. Capt. Hermie, accordingly, opened his brief argument, which was to the effect that while many of the witnesses on the issue at hand had entered the testimony introduced last week, the real issue—whether Col. Williams was drunk or sober on the night of March 6, at the Hotel Del Coronado—has been sufficiently illuminated to permit the court to draw its own conclusions.

With a passing reference to the utter failure of the defense contention that the defendant was sick, rather than drunk, Capt. Hermie said he knew the court would not be influenced by public clamor or camouflage introduced by the defense, and sat down.

Lewis R. Kirby, civilian counsel for the Colonel, in his argument reminded Rear Admiral Thomas Washington, president of the court, that it must be shown the defendant was drunk; not merely that he staggered, or that he was inebriated, or that he stepped upon a woman's shawl in a crowded room or seemed dizzy when he arose from a chair.

Arguments were completed at 11:12 a. m. and the court retired to deliberate on a verdict.

STREAM OF LAVA, RACING TO SEA, BURIES VILLAGES

While many of the previous flows have been preceded by tidal waves, none has accompanied the eruption. As part of the outburst of the last week huge boulders crashed down the mountainside. Quarries have been stationed at strategic points to warn residents of danger. The lava is now pouring forth more lava during the century than any other volcano on the globe.

Around its base is a gorgeous tropical forest, including Mahoe, mango, banana, and other fruits. The lava is now pouring forth more lava during the century than any other volcano on the globe.

Origin of Name. Aside from the fact that the present lava flow is considerably slower than the disturbance of 1919, which attained a speed of 10 miles an hour when it crashed into the Pacific, volcanologists say the spectacle is almost comparable. Because of its long slopes, Mauna Loa was named by the early Hawaiians, the name meaning "long mountain." It had an eruption in 1823. There are traces of great volcanic flows prior to 1823, including several from the summit of the mountain from which, some experts say, the entire island was created.

Light Quake in California

CALEXICO, CAL., April 19.—Distinct earthquake shocks were felt in several Imperial valley towns at 7:16 o'clock this morning. The shocks were light and of about 20 seconds' duration. No damage was reported.

The committee was divided, 3 to 1, for the denatured resolution. Supporting it were Mrs. Maud Wood Park of Maine, former national president of the league and now its Washington representative; Mrs. Ernest J. Mott of California; and Mrs. Luella St. Clair Moss of Missouri.

An informal conference was held prior to the committee report at which Mrs. Caspar Whitney of New York sought to dissuade the Pennsylvania delegation to withdraw its intention to seek a declaration of opposition to modification of the Volstead act.

"We in Pennsylvania have never stepped any issue," Mrs. John O. Miller of that State retorted, "and we have the largest membership and most active league among the states."

Minority Report Drafted. Thereupon the minority report prepared in which the demand for a vote upon the Volstead act was made. It was signed by Mrs. Clementine Rhoads of Pennsylvania, who introduced the original resolution, and by Mrs. Harriett Taylor Upton of Ohio, vice chairman of the Republican National Committee during the Harding administration.

In presenting their reports to the convention, Mrs. Park and Mrs. Harriethorne spoke briefly upon the issue raised.

Mrs. Park said that the committee was in complete agreement upon the moral issue involved, but that the minority position established a very dangerous precedent. Upon all matters of legislation, it is the policy of the League to refrain from action," she said.

"Until such matters had been referred to the various State Leagues for their consideration. Our decisions have commanded respect because of this attitude of deliberation."

Mrs. Harriethorne said that prohibition had been an issue for more than 50 years and the Eighteenth Amendment had been effective longer than that giving women suffrage. The minority position was in defiance, she said, to the desire of a large number of the delegates to bring the issue to the floor, and thus open it to discussion.

"We felt that we had no right to smother this desire in committee," she said.

Dry But Trying to Avoid Row. The sentiment in the convention was overwhelmingly dry, but it is thought that it will refuse to oppose modification of the Volstead act solely upon the ground that it is unwise to make any declaration on the subject. The present officers of the League are committed to the policy of avoiding all controversial matters.

LEADERS OF GIRLS HEAD OF GIRL SCOUTS DEFENDS YOUNGSTERS

MRS. FREDERICK EDEY.

Modern Youth is All Right, Declares Miss Sarah Louise Arnold of Boston.

Girls of today are headed in the right direction, Miss Sarah Louise Arnold of Boston, national president of the Girl Scouts, said in an interview at Hotel Chase today, in answering them from "flaming youth" charges. She is here for the Girl Scout national convention which will open Wednesday.

"I refuse to pay too much attention to the froth on the surface of the stream," she said, "when I can plainly see the main current is moving in the right direction. There is splendid stuff in the modern girl, and dependable stuff, too, a great squareness in facing things and thorough sturdiness and directness."

Fashions of today, I think, will take their place in a long series of vagaries in woman's dress. I don't think it is fair to consider this the first manifestation in that line. No one will who cares to turn back to the fashions of the past and picture of that day of the hoop skirt, a board stays and dresses trailing in the street.

"One thing is beginning to make me a little indignant in the discussion of modern youth. The boys and girls only are mentioned in most of these discussions, which, by the way, are generally carried on by people not very well informed. What has become of the fathers and mothers? We act as if the boy and girl were responsible for conditions today when as a matter of fact we are all responsible together."

Modern Girl Wholesome. "The modern girl has a wholeheartedness for wholesome, square and big-hearted things. Certainly we can only commend her if she is able to arrive at a perspective, a clear vision we haven't yet had—except if she does it by blinding new trails."

"In the Girl Scouts we try to cultivate the best of these fine qualities in modern youth—generousness, eagerness to know, ability to lead, love of worth-while things and the good will which is constantly practiced in the Good Turn. These qualities will not become an American birthright unless they are in the hearts of the mothers as well as the fathers. That is why we have the Girl Scouts as well as the Boy Scouts."

Mrs. William S. Sims of Newport, R. I., wife of the retired admiral, who assisted her niece, Miss Margaret Shepley of St. Louis, in presiding at a session of the Brownies, little sisters of the Girl Scouts, echoed Miss Arnold's sentiments in behalf of the modern girl. The Brownies are under 10 years of age.

Today's conference made plans to let them have as much of a share in scouting as their years will permit.

Mrs. Frederick Edey of New York, national field chairman of the Girl Scouts, is presiding at the commissioners' conference today. Among those present were Mrs. Herbert Hoover of Washington, wife of the Secretary of Commerce and chairman of the national Executive Committee; Miss Jane Deane Rippin of New York, national director; Mrs. Harriet E. Harris of New York, national financial secretary; and Miss Helen Ferris, editor of the American Girl, a Girl Scout magazine.

To Break Camp at Irontide. About 200 leaders who have been spending the past week at the Girl Scout national training camp at Irontide, 70 miles south of here, will break camp today and join the other delegates tomorrow. Dr. Elizabeth Kemper Adams of New York, head of the national Girl Scout education department, and Dr. Bertha Chapman Cady, a naturalist, have been directing the training courses at the camp.

The semi-annual meeting of national officers and directors will be held tomorrow morning. The convention itself will close Saturday afternoon with a special dinner at Washington University Field house directed by Miss Oleda Schrottky of New York, in which 1000 St. Louis Girl Scouts will take part.

In preparation for the convention 1000 Girl Scouts will meet today at 4 p. m. at Central High School to hear addresses by Miss Arnold and Mrs. Rippin. The meeting was arranged Saturday after it had become known that the national officers would be there in advance of the convention.

FASCISTI CONTINUE ATTACKS ON CATHOLIC ORGANIZATIONS

Co-Operative, With Headquarters in Rome, Broken Up and Looted.

Copyright, 1926, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Co., New York World and Post-Dispatch.

CHIASSO, Switzerland, April 19.—Attacks by Fascists on Catholic organizations are continuing according to reports reaching here, the latest having been in the town of Artega, in the Friuli district. Here the Catholic Societies had a co-operative organization, and this has been broken up and looted.

The Fascists hesitated before attacking it because its headquarters was in a priest's home. But the competition with Fascist shops was keen and finally they invaded the co-operative, declaring their patience with traitorous organizations is ended.

They looted the co-operative of its supplies and with their spoils, hams, sausages, flasks of wine, etc., paraded to the Catholic Trade Union Hall, where they held a feast to celebrate their victory.

Royal Egyptian Tomb That of Cheops' Mother

Harvard-Boston Expedition Tells of Piecing Together Decayed Wood With Lines Identifying Body.

CAIRO, April 19.—The royal tomb unearthed some time ago by the Harvard-Boston expedition in the immediate predecessor of Senefruti, the daughter of the royal family of the Third dynasty and it was clearly on her hereditary right that the Kings of the Fourth dynasty founded their claims to the throne.

The eldest daughter of Cheops, also called Hetepet, was married to a great noble named Ankhisaf and was buried with her husband in a tomb about 100 yards east of the tomb of her grandmother, Queen Hetepet.

The tomb now known to be that of the Queen was, when discovered, was first announced in January, 1925, thought to be that of King Senefruti. It is the oldest tomb yet discovered intact, the furniture and ornaments buried with the Queen nearly 7000 years ago having escaped grave robbers with rare good luck.

The tomb is probably 2000 years older than that of Tutankhamen and is in the shadow of the great pyramid, built by Cheops, greatest of the Pharaohs and son of the dead Queen.

BYRD POLAR SHIP BESET BY ROUGH SEA

Coal Shifted From After Hold to Prevent Chantier From Being Low by Stern.

By COMMANDER R. E. BYRD, Leader of the Byrd Expedition to the North Pole.

Copyright by New York Times and St.
Louis Post-Dispatch. (By Wire.)

ON BOARD THE S. S. CHANTIER, Bound for Spitzbergen, April 18.—We have had a rough sea for a week and the ship is quite low by the stern and consequently difficult to steer. We had no expert helmsmen when we started, but now after diligent training we have two helmsmen from among the volunteers as seamen.

One of the volunteer men broke so many dishes in the pantry that we transferred him to deck duty and gave him a trial as helmsman. He did very well for an hour or so but just as Capt. Brannan came on the bridge he found himself at right angles to his course with the ship rolling 30 degrees in the rough of the sea. The West Pointer lost his job as helmsman and is now back on deck.

Several Snow Squalls.

We have had several snow squalls and have passed near the vicinity of iceberg with ice fields around them.

The spirit of the crew continues splendid under the drudgery of routine. No one considers seaickness any cause to give up. There is a lot of very hard work and especially for the last two days, when we have been shifting coal from the afterhold to the midship coal bunkers, in order to prevent the ship from being so low by the stern.

We took aboard in New York enough coal for 10,000 miles of cruising.

The good nature of the crew is typified by an incident that happened to our carpenter—"Chips," the boys call him. There has been a lot for him to do and he has been working 15 hours a day. Last night he turned in dead tired. Soon after he got to sleep a heavy sea threw one of his shipmates on his face.

Ship in Good Condition.

"Hello," said "Chips," "how are you?" and turned over and went to sleep again.

Radio Engineer Hansen, who with Greenlee and James, has gotten our high-frequency radio whipped into condition, will be aboard the first homeward ship we pass, provided the sea is calm enough for transfer. Hansen has provided us with one of the most up-to-date radio sets in existence.

The Chantier is a credit to the Shipping Board. She is a splendid sea boat for her size and we find her in good condition in all respects.

the truth about coffee

secrets every woman should know

MOST coffee is ground unevenly as shown in the upper circle. Little pieces brew too much and get bitter. Big pieces do not brew enough and are wasteful. H & K Coffee (lower circle) is ground evenly and "purified." Each piece practically the same size—result, perfect coffee and no waste.

FOR Acid Stomach

PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from gases. Besides, it neutralizes and fermentsations in the bowels, gently urging this serious waste in the system without purging, is far more pleasant to take than soda.

TRY A 25¢ BOTTLE

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five and fifty cent bottles, say five in the stomach as a saturated solution.

COMMISSION DROPS COMPLAINTS IN THREE CASES

Of Concerns Involved With From Public as Part of Agreement.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—With Commissioners Nugent and Thompson dissenting, the Federal Trade Commission has dismissed three national complaints under agreed conditions to abandon trade practices complained of, but without making public the names of the companies involved.

In each case the respondent agreed that if the practices were found to be in violation of the act, the stipulations might be used as evidence against him.

Two concerns used "mills" in their names and advertising to indicate that they manufactured their own cloth when they, in fact, purchased the material; the third used imitation pearl necklaces marked "price $50," although the necklaces were intended to be sold at a far lower figure.

The dissenting Commissioners held that the complaints should be dismissed and the cases tried in order that the public might be informed of unfair practices and that the resulting competition be benefited by increased trade.

Stranger Stabbed Him. William Jones, 29 years old, of 1115 D street, Granite City, was taken to city hospital from a doctor's office at Nineteenth and Wash streets last night suffering from stab wounds in the right arm and the left hand. He told policemen that he was attacked at Nineteenth street and Franklin avenue without provocation, by a man he had never seen before and who he was mistaken for some one else.

Simple home treatment made short work of crick in neck

Don't let muscular pain disable you and cause you hours of suffering. You can get rid of it quickly with a simple and easy home treatment.

Here is a letter telling how one woman treated successfully a very severe case of crick in the neck.

"I could hardly move from stiffness and pain," she writes. "I used Sloan's Liniment and that was the end of it."

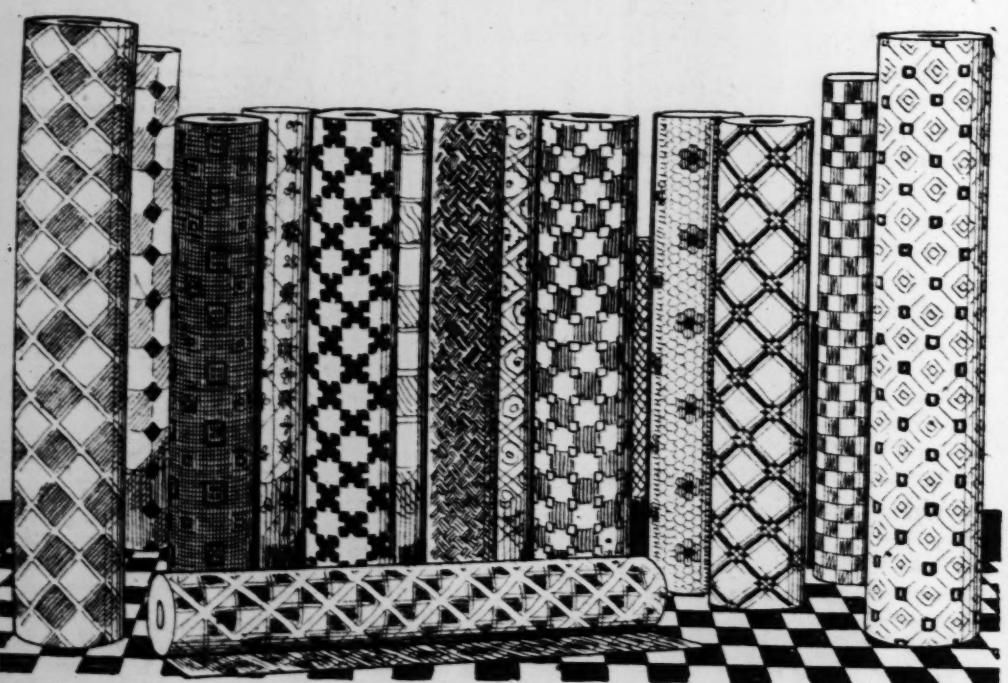

It is amazing how quickly and surely Sloan's takes the pain and stiffness out of any aching muscle. Just a few drops rubbed on lightly—and pain and stiffness must yield.

The fresh healing blood that Sloan's sends to the sick tissue washes out poisons, breaks up congestion, drives out pain. Relief is then immediate and complete.

So clean, pleasant, and easy to use! You don't even have to rub it in—the medicine itself does the work. Try it! All druggists—25 cents.

CUT IN STREET, SEWER AND PARK EXPENSES

Net Decrease of $539,160 for 1925-26 Compared With Previous Fiscal Year.

A reduction of $379,297 in the expenditures of the Streets and Sewers Department for the fiscal year 1925-26, just ended, as compared with 1924-25, and a reduction of $93,940 in Park Department expenditures, are the principal items of decrease shown in a statement issued today by the Comptroller's office, at Mayor Miller's request, comparing expenditures for the two fiscal years.

The statement, which covers 29 departments and divisions administered by the Mayor and his appointees, shows reduction of $539,160 in 25 of the items and increases of $120,471 in 14 items, the net decrease for the last fiscal year being $539,160.

The fiscal year just ended was the first of Mayor Miller's administration, and that with which it is compared was the last year of Mayor Kiel's administration. Officials of the Street and Park Departments have said recently that the reduction in the expenditures of those departments meant a decrease in needed work of street and park maintenance.

Items Not Controlled by Mayor. In addition to the list a tabulation was made of some of the principal expenditures of city revenue not controlled by the Mayor and his appointees, and this tabulation showed an increase of $1,022,824. This tabulation includes the Police Department and the courts, but does not include the item of election and registration, for which the expenditure was much less in 1925-26 than in 1924-25, because the national election was held in 1924. The election and registration item does not appear anywhere in the comparison made today. The Board of Aldermen, which shows little change in expenditures from year to year, was another item omitted, so that no complete survey of city finances can be made from the figures issued today.

The Comptroller's figures show an increase in revenue of $1,634,327 last year over the preceding year, caused by an increase in the tax rate. It is estimated that, after meeting the increased expenditures, which are attributed to the department not controlled by the Mayor, the sum of $450,000 can be applied to reduction of the deficit, reducing the deficit from about $328,000 to $78,000.

Details of Special Report. Of the departments under the Mayor's control, the Comptroller's special report shows decreases for the last fiscal year, as compared with the preceding year, in the following amounts: Efficiency Board, $745; Assessor, $4679; Supply Department, $1026; testing laboratory, $443; Register, $1519; Marshal, $8320; Director Public Utilities, $4295; lighting public buildings, $7630; Municipal Bridge, $12,130; Municipal Docks, $2422; street lighting maintenance, $5463; Streets and Sewers, $379; 297; Director Public Safety, $1305; Fire Department, $12,383; Fire and Police Telegraph, $18,013; weights and measures, $1245; Building Commissioner, $25,279; City Hall and Municipal Courts, $24,025; Smoke Inspection, $2500; Legal Aid Bureau, $635; Health Department, $92,940; Bellefontaine Farms, $4159; Board of Parole, $485; Water Department, $22,805.

It will be noticed that one of the reductions of expenditure listed is that of $4295 in the office of the Director of Public Utilities, that official having been Edward E. Wall, whom the Mayor removed recently for insubordination. The Water Division, in which a reduction of $23,805 is shown, is under the Director of Public Utilities.

List of the Increases. The departments and divisions in which an increase is shown for the last fiscal year over 1924-25 are: Mayor, $4753; Law Department, $155; President Board of Public Service, $46,734; division engineer, utilities department, $2505; power plants, $7161; Courthouse, $2042; Director Public Welfare, $398; Hospital Department, $29,373; Meramec Hills, $157; Jail, $5021; Workhouse, $4487; Municipal Lodging House, $1; and Board of Children's Guardians, $14,604.

The BILLIONAREA

the GREATER ST. LOUIS MARKET

"What is happening in St. Louis that causes so much talk about it as a rich market? Is it booming? ... and if so ... what is the cause of it? ... and will it last?"

GREATER ST. LOUIS is probably the most talked of major market in America today—and it deserves to be. Trade statistics show that the Metropolitan area of St. Louis has an annual Purchasing Power of more than a Billion Dollars. It is a veritable "BILLIONAREA."

Naturally, there is a keen and growing interest in such a prosperous market among national advertisers, merchandisers and manufacturers, and a desire to know more about it. The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, therefore, will outline in a series of articles the underlying reasons for the richness and unusual development of this market—formerly more noted for solidity than for speed of growth.

The recent great development of the Greater St. Louis Market is not a boom in any sense of the word save that of speed of growth. This rapid progress is based on new conditions and on long existing factors that have been crystallizing for years in the minds of national industries.

Always a prosperous field for national advertisers and manufacturers, the Greater St. Louis Market can now be properly termed "The BILLIONAREA," because of its recent and unusual business development and solid prosperity.

The laws of sound selling and sound advertising—just as with sound military tactics—point to the logic of concentrating and pushing the hardest where resistance is least, and where the greatest results can be secured from the effort put forth.

The value of a market is not simply the number of people in it—because neither the number nor the needs or desires of people indicate their worth as purchasers. An equal population of a Russian city, for example, may have more needs and desires, but lack the Means to Buy.

Because of these fundamental facts, every national advertiser will recognize the tremendous purchasing power concentrated in the Greater St. Louis Market, when he learns that its extra buying power per family, over the national average, is greater than any other market in America, with one exception.

The dominant newspaper, having the largest circulation in the Greater St. Louis Market and carrying by far the greatest volume of advertising is the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

The highest ranking P+D+C newspaper of "The BILLIONAREA"—the Greater St. Louis Market

Because the St. Louis Post-Dispatch has the greatest circulation in this rich area, it offers national advertisers a P+D+C value almost without parallel in America. It reaches more People with more Dollars with a greater Coverage of "The Billionarea" than any other newspaper. Its coverage is so complete that this one newspaper alone taps the unusual buying power of practically every home in the Greater St. Louis Market. The fact that both local and national advertisers recognize the Post-Dispatch as the most powerful selling force in the Greater St. Louis Market is proved by its volume of advertising—almost equal to that of all other St. Louis newspapers combined.

For the convenience of national advertisers, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch has published a P+D+C Manual which describes the fundamental principles of measuring a market from the standpoint of newspaper advertising by identically the same accepted standards that have long been used in measuring a market from the standpoint of selling.

REFS HAVE THREE DAYS TO ACCEPT TRUCE TERMS

Conference With French and Spanish Envoys Ends in Disagreement—No Recognition for Leader.

ABD-EL-KRIM EXILED

Armistice Condition Includes Advance of Allied Forces as Security for Good Faith.

By Associated Press.
MADRID, Morocco, April 19.—Whether there shall be peace or a continuation of the warfare in Morocco will be decided within the next three days.

The first meeting of the Franco-Spanish and Rifian delegates in preliminary pourparlers, to settle the terms for an armistice, was held yesterday at Camp Berteaux, but ended in disagreement. The three members of the Rifian delegation—all standing well over six feet, dressed in white flowing robes, and wearing white turbans—declined to permit the French and Spanish troops to advance seven kilometers along the coast as a military guarantee of good faith and also objected to the Franco-Spanish proposal for the exchange of prisoners.

The French are said to have been outspoken in their desire for peace. It was explained today in official, but well informed, circles that the animosity between the Spaniards and the Rifians thwarted an armistice and may have led to the failure of the peace negotiations.

Barrier Against Abd-El-Krim.
Spain, it is understood, demurred that Abd-El-Krim be forced to depart from the Rif and that he be barred from residing in any Moroccan territory.

Si Mohammed Azerkane, brother-in-law of Abd-El-Krim, represented the Rifian war lord. A faithful giant, Cald Aman Chedd, spoke on behalf of the Beni Mithane, and the third delegate represented another tribe.

After a long discussion, under a temperature of 90 degrees Fahrenheit in the shade, the Rifians were given three days in which they might accept or reject the terms offered. They were permitted to return to the Rif region by airplane to consult with their leaders. Meanwhile the peace conference, which was to have opened here today, has been postponed. The opinion is that the peace negotiations are temporary; the pessimists already hear the crack of rifles along the lower Atlas Range and in the Ouerghia Valley.

Leader Not Recognized.
Abd-El-Krim, whom both France and Spain refused formally to recognize as a belligerent or a peace negotiator, holds the fate of Morocco in his hands. Upon his decision to accept or reject the terms of the French and Spanish hinges war or peace.

Prior to going to Camp Berteaux, Si Mohammed Azerkane said his desire for peace was keen and that he hoped the French and Spanish Governments would assist in the realization of the aspirations of the Rifians.

A statement written in his own hand added:
"We have taken cognizance of the basic terms offered by France and Spain and are convinced that peace is possible if concessions are made by all." (The word "all" was underlined.)

Mohammed Azerkane merely shrugged his shoulders when asked why he had underlined "all."

A. M. COX OUT OF POLITICS FOR GOOD AND GLAD OF IT

Democratic Candidate of 1920 Denounces Present Era of Dishonesty and Hypocrisy.

NEW YORK, April 19.—James M. Cox, former Governor of Ohio and Democratic candidate for the presidency in 1920, said on his arrival from Florida last night that he was out of politics for good.

"I think the man who is out of public life is a most fortunate person," he said, "for the reason that it is an era of intellectual dishonesty and hypocrisy."

Cox said, however, he was glad he made the race in 1920, because he was privileged to "carry the banner that had been carried through the war by Woodrow Wilson."

Rioting Over Farm Rows in India.
MADRAS, India, April 19.—Sedition rioting, growing out of agricultural disputes, occurred at Samsangalam, 250 miles southwest of Madras. Six policemen were seriously injured and a number of others were arrested. Order finally was restored and the authorities have forbidden gatherings of more than four persons.

POLITICAL ROW IN PROSPECT OVER WAR CLAIMS PAYMENT

Garner of Texas Says Measure Will Not Be Revived—Friends of Bill Think It Was Introduced Too Late.

By CHARLES MITCHELLSON.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Abandonment of the bill for return of seized German property, and for payment out of the United States Treasury of the American claims against Germany, with prospective repayment to the Treasury out of the American share of the Dawes reparations payments, threatens to stir up a big row this session of Congress.

Friends of the measure are complaining that the administration produced the bill only two weeks ago, so late in the session that there would be no opportunity to meet the fight that was bound to be made on it.

Bluntly, the charge is that the majority sought by introducing the bill to placate the German-American voters in the coming election, and by abandoning it at the first volley from the opposition to avoid the enmity of those who want to retain the German money or use it to discharge the American claims allowed by the Mixed Claims Commission.

No Substitute in Sight.

So far as known, no plans have been made by the Treasury Department for a substitute bill segregating the American claims. At the opening of the session, Senator Borah (Rep.) of Idaho introduced a measure providing for the return of the German property and nothing else. That measure was buried in the finance committee, and when Owen Mills of New York offered the measure in the House, including both classes of claims, Borah accepted it and introduced it in the Senate.

The Mills withdrawal from sponsorship of the bill following the revelation by Representative Garner (Dem.) of Texas that the Mills interests were concerned in one of the big obligations recognized by the Mixed Claims Commission, leaves Borah up in the air. The Idaho Senator declined last night to discuss the situation until it was definitely established that the Mills would go no further with the bill.

Garner said that there was no possibility of the measure being revived at this session. He observed Mills from purposely fathering a measure in which he had monetary concerns, saying that as soon as it was called to his attention he withdrew from it.

Interest of Mellon Companies.

The Texan, however, gave no such absolute to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, whose companies, he said, would have received a million dollars from the Treasury had the bill gone through. Garner said the total of German obligations to the United States exceeded $500,000,000, and that the $24,000,000 a year which was to be received under the Dawes distribution would not more than cover the interest on the American claim.

Among the items cited by those who opposed the measure at the hearings before House and Senate joint committees was a repayment of $40,000,000 to the insurance companies in reimbursement of losses paid by them for ships destroyed, and one of $15,000,000 to the Standard Oil Co.

A motion striking out all the claims over $100,000 from these to be taken care of in the bill was defeated in committee.

The friends of the bill say it is absurd to kill a measure providing for the settlement of just claims merely because some of the people to benefit are rich men. The opponents reply that it was the presence of these claims that prompted the inclusion of the American settlements with a measure supposed to have for its main purpose the return of seized German property and that when it came to talking about absurdities, nothing could be more incongruous than to have the American Treasury pay for the sinking of the Lusitania, and trust to luck and the future to get the money back from Germany.

May Push Bill.
The Treasury's idea is that Mills' withdrawal from the sponsorship of the measure did not affect its value; that the objectors had offered nothing to take its place, and that when a bill was once before the joint committee it ceased to be a Treasury bill. This suggests that despite Garner's prophecy, an effort may be made to push it through.

The Democrats are claiming that the measure was framed in the way it was presented for the purpose of helping out large contributors to the Republican campaign fund.

14 Concerns to Benefit Under German War Claims Bill.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 19.—Fourteen companies and individuals were named in a statement today by Representative Garner (Dem.) of Texas as among those who would benefit under the Mills bill for adjustment of German-American war claims, which he is opposing before the House Ways and Means Committee.

Those named were the Standard Oil Co., $12,000,000; packers, including Armour & Co., Swift & Co., and the Cudahy Packing Co., $1,600,000; milling interests, including Pillsbury Plate Glass, the Aluminum Co. of America, the Republic Steel Co., the Mellon National Bank and the Carborundum Co., $1,057,000; three companies of which Representative Mills (Rep.) of New York is a director, $260,000; J. P. Morgan interests, $245,000; W. L. Laconia, $150,000; J. S. Morgan, $150,000; Dwight W. Morrow interests, $93,000; J. S. Freelinghuysen insurance interests, $7,000,000; O. H. Kahn interests, $1,340,000; Paul M. Warburg (Kuhn, Loeb & Co.), $510,000; Coleman Dupont interests, $15,000; Charles M. Schwab interests, $400,000; C. H. Remington (director of Chase National Bank), $1,419,000; Elihu Root Jr., $42,000.

Mills announced Saturday that in view of the fact that he had found one of his companies affected, he would not participate further in deliberations over the measure.

Under the terms of the measure, they must be accepted by the exchange of notes between the United States and each of the 14 states signatory to the statute of the Permanent Court before the United States can become a party and sign the protocol.

"If any machinery is necessary to give the United States an opportunity to participate through representatives for the election of Judges, this should naturally be considered after the reservations have been adopted and the United States has become a party to the statute of the Permanent Court of International Justice."

"If the states signatory to the statute of the Permanent Court desire to confer among themselves, the United States would have no objection whatever."

GREEK PRESIDENT INSTALLED

By Associated Press.
ATHENS, April 19.—Gen. Pangalos, was installed as President of Greece at the Cathedral. He ordered the liberation of political prisoners and journalists accused of attempted sedition, including M. Papanastasiou, former Premier, and Gen. Condylis, former Minister of War and others who were sent into exile.

Gen. Pangalos announced he would relinquish all his dictatorial rights which he assumed early in January of this year.

Danish Flyer Missing in China.

SHANGHAI, April 19.—Lieut. Botved, the Danish transcontinental flyer, is missing. He arrived at Canton Saturday, and left there Sunday for Shanghai on another flight. He was last reported on board the ship at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon and should have reached Shanghai at 5 o'clock. A large crowd, including a majority of the members of the Danish colony, vainly waited at the airfield until dusk for Botved.

GERMAN-RUSSIAN TREATY SATISFIES LEAGUE OFFICIALS

Proposed Pact Pledges Berlin to Observe Neutrality if Soviet Is Attacked by Third Power.

By ALBIN E. JOHNSON.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1926, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co., New York World and Post-Dispatch.

GENEVA, April 19.—Contrary to expectations, League of Nations officials are pleased with the proposed Russo-German treaty.

The terms of the agreement have been received unofficially by the secretariat. League officials say it is based actually as well as theoretically on the covenant of the League.

The first feature of the agreement, by which both countries pledge themselves not to attack each other, is based upon the preamble to the Locarno treaties. The neutrality feature pledges Germany to maintain neutrality if Russia is attacked by an outside power. In case Russia is the aggressor, Germany does not commit herself. The agreement, which it is admitted is not entirely satisfactory to Moscow, amply protects German obligations when she enters the League.

League Obligations Protected.

Furthermore, even should the Russians entertain hope that Germany would maintain neutrality in the event of Russian aggression against a third party, there is a provision in the covenant whereby all treaties conflicting with obligations to the League are abrogated when the covenant is signed.

Leagueurs also attach great importance to Germany's desire to become a bridge between Europe and Russia in future. Any consolidation of relations between Germany, Poland, the Baltic states and Rumania with Russia within the bounds of the covenant will be welcomed rather than deplored.

The League cannot deal with the soviet, but individual members in carrying out the spirit of the regional pacts, regardless with whom they are made, are considered as advancing the peace work of Geneva.

The proposed accords between Russia and her border states, have advanced considerably according to reports received here. Finland has asked Moscow for more specific details of a proposed treaty, and an explanation of "neutrality provisions."

Should the treaty Moscow-Berlin be consummated, it will serve as a model for other accords.

Russo-Lithuanian Accord.

A Russo-Lithuanian accord has already been consummated, according to advices from Riga, but a secret clause concerning the disputed Memel district is arousing suspicion. As long as Polish-Lithuanian border disputes, of which Memel is the chief, can be localized, there is nothing for the League to fear, inasmuch as both can be disciplined easily. But if Russia should mix in, the situation would be much involved.

The secret clauses of the Russo-German agreement are not taken seriously in Geneva. It is understood the Germans have explained these clauses in a covering letter, specifically setting forth that if Russia is the aggressor in a future war, Berlin reserves a free hand.

STALIN CALLS FOR A CLEANUP OF SOVIET GRAFT AND THEFT

State Business Must Be Honest and Efficient, He Declares at Leningrad.

By Associated Press.
MOSCOW, April 19.—M. Stalin, recently elected to the important post of president of the Communist party, denounced waste, revelry and theft rampant in Communist, industrial and buying organizations in Russia. He was addressing the Leningrad Communist conference.

The state business must be cleaned and made honest and efficient, he declared.

He cited an instance where the overhead charge of a grain purchase organization amounted to 13 kopecks per pound, when it ought to be only 8 kopecks. This was because every responsible grain buyer had a large staff of stenographers and helpers, bought automobiles and heaped up expenses, making export unprofitable.

"We must declare a fight to the finish on all excesses, all criminal practices with the people's property," he said.

To Aid Philippine Independence.

MANILA, April 19.—Jose Abad Santos, former Secretary of Justice, will sail today for the United States to conduct a publicity campaign for Philippine independence. Santos represents the National Supreme Council and one of the chief objects of his trip is said to be organization of advocates of Philippine independence in America. These prominent countrymen will accompany him.

FIGHTING LAWLESSNESS IN BOSS-RIDDEN CITY

"Don't Come Till Sent For," Says Mayor to Gen. Butler After Row

"Great Silence" Ensues After Publicity About Retention of Marine Officer as Police Head—Peace Restored at Ball Game.

By SMEDLEY D. BUTLER.
Former Director of the Department of Public Safety.

Philadelphia, Pa. (Copyright, 1926.)

CHAPTER EIGHT.

To carry out the instructions the Mayor had given me—to divorce the police from politics—police redistricting was vital. To redistrict required funds for the rewiring of the police signals and telephones. To obtain funds I had to go to City Council.

Council refused to appropriate the $25,000 necessary for this work. I retaliated. I started to do the rewiring without funds, using city electrical bureau employees, as required by law, and using the wires that were ripped up.

Then Council began to assault me in earnest. They had thought and hoped all along that I would fight in the old Chinese way. When, as a young marine officer, I led my company in the Boxer uprising in China against a fortification, we were greeted by a terrific booming that resembled cannon fire, but no projectiles followed. We soon discovered that the Chinese soldiers had arranged huge drums against which they rapped with sticks, and that the noise was intended to frighten the enemy. Then the Chinese started out towards us arrayed in huge and grotesque masks. This also was intended to frighten the enemy. After several hundred had been shot, they realized that their methods of warfare were somewhat useless.

Action Causes a Panic.

Apparently I was expected to make warfare in the old Chinese method. Loss of money and racket, splashy and doggy uniforms, but no real action. The mere talk of redistricting didn't affect the politicians, but when I started in actually to redistrict, they became panic-stricken.

From Atlantic City Charley Hall, prominent leader and self-acknowledged czar of Council, opened the hostilities. In an interview he attacked me, laying stress on the redistricting which was to affect him and his political friends, and he never ceased urging me to "give him back" his police station and a friendly magistrate. He charged me with making insulting remarks about Council and demanded that the Mayor force me to retract.

It was obvious to everyone that the "insulting remarks" reference was mere camouflage.

So it happened that on the day prior to this attack Mayor Kendrick had made public his review and report of his first six months in office. It opened with a complimentary review of the work of the Department of Public Safety, praised the decrease in crime and the increase in the number of arrests of criminals, and what was more important, paid tribute to the police for their devotion to duty and for divorcing police from politics.

That report, prepared by the Mayor's publicity man and handed out by the Mayor personally, caused a great deal of ill feeling. Hall was furious. Here he, president of Council, was engaged in denouncing the director, and the Mayor publicly praised him. Bill Vare, too, was angry.

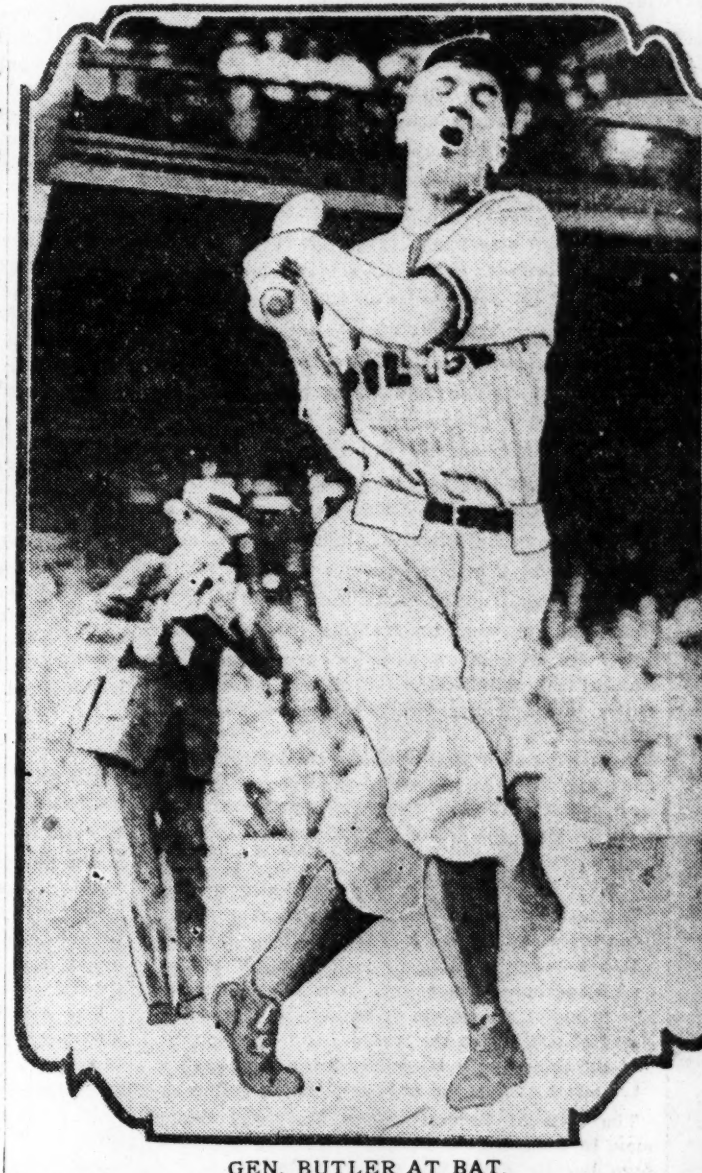

Publicity Man Fired.

The publicity representative was immediately dismissed by the Mayor. The Mayor insisted that the report had been prepared by his press agent and he disclaimed authorship of the commendation of the Department of Public Safety.

When the Mayor's attention was called to Hall's remarks directed at me, the Mayor said:
"I am sick and tired of the whole business." He then admitted publicly that politicians and others had carried untrue stories to him about me. All these internal differences, these public disputes, naturally slowed up the police. They hipped the cause, plunged along, nevertheless. Soon we centered our attention on breweries. Almost a score of them were operating illegally, manufacturing and shipping high-powered beer. We raided them and the posted 24-hour police guards at the doors.

The cafe raiding continued. Seven of the largest cafes in the city, where the law had been openly defied, where liquor flowed freely and where young girls were fed liquor, were raided and their dance licenses revoked, so that they were forced to close their doors.

Hall, in the meantime, kept clamoring for my humiliation. The Mayor, however, patched up our differences. As I walked out after

GEN. BUTLER AT BAT.
LINING out a single for the Philadelphia police team which he organized to raise funds to meet a deficit of the relief association.

er that interview with him, we discussed some trivial affair, and the Mayor remarked:
"When I want you again I will send for you."

That order, I, as the Mayor's subordinate, necessarily obeyed, and it led later to the most trying situation of my stay in Philadelphia. Early in July the question was brought to the fore by the newspapers as to whether I would remain after the first of the year. Although I had been appointed for four years, my leave of absence from the Marine Corps was only for a year.

In answer to all questions as to my future, I referred the inquirers to the Mayor, declaring it was entirely up to him whether I remained or not. He refused to discuss the situation.

I was forced to go to Washington to arrange for my future post, my old one at Quantico having been filled, and I had lost my opportunity to advance in rank because of my leave of absence. The newspapers continued to feature the question of my future stay in Philadelphia.

In the meantime, obeying the Mayor's mandate to wait until he sent for me, our relations were somewhat strained by the continued silence on both sides.

Accused of Propaganda.

One morning I came into my office to find the following discourteous and insulting letter on my desk:

"Dear Sir:
The newspaper publicity concerning the question of your retention as Director of Public Safety after Jan. 5 next, when your leave of absence from the Marine Corps expires, has continued so long as to stamp it as propaganda, while your frequent contributions to it indicate that it has your approval."

"It is evident intent is to embarrass this administration, and your further participation in it will therefore seriously affect the harmonious relations which must exist between the Mayor and his directors if the administration is to be successful."

"It is my desire that you abstain from further public statements in the matter, and devote your energies to carrying into effect those policies which I directed you to enforce when I appointed you to office, and in which you have had my consistent support."

The receipt of that letter on Aug. 1, 1924, followed by a matter of a few days the sailing for Europe of Hall and Bill Vare, boss of the political gang.

Before they left I learned on the highest authority that these two, with the Mayor, had discussed my future presence in Philadelphia as a menace to the organization and the Mayor had agreed to dismiss me before their return from abroad.

I knew that the day I received the Mayor's letter of reprimand and I did not place myself in a position of insubordination in replying other than perfunctorily—for had I done so I would have been dismissed immediately.

Butler Replies to Mayor.

My reply, therefore was as follows:

"My dear Mr. Mayor:
I have the honor to acknowledge receipt, through your secretary, of your letter of reprimand dated Aug. 1, 1924.

"While expressing regret that you should have so written without granting a hearing, I nevertheless give great satisfaction to know that this administration of the Department of Public Safety has been such as to warrant your consistent support."

"I am desirous to assure you, Mr. Mayor, that those policies which you directed when you appointed the present director of this department will continue to be enforced."

What was generally referred to in the newspapers and City Hall gossip as the "great silence," so continued between the Mayor and myself for weeks before we actually spoke, and then it was only to exchange greetings and to pose for camera men.

I had learned that the Police Beneficiary Association had developed a deficit of some $150,000 and that some 75 widows of policemen and firemen who had died in service, were waiting, some in dire need, for the $2000 to which they were each entitled.

The fund had been in the hands of politicians—hence the deficit.

Organizes Ball Team.

However, I made plans to wipe out this deficiency and to pay the needy widows and orphans. I organized a police baseball team and arranged a series of games, the proceeds to be devoted to the rehabilitation of the pension fund. It was at the first game, late in July or early in August, that we both met at the park, shook hands, smiled and passed on, for I played the position of catcher for the team in the early innings.

The month of August was one of silence throughout—silence between the Mayor and the Director of Public Safety.

Police activity continued. Hall and Vare returned, to find me still in office. That was just before September. In the meantime the rumor began to be circulated that I was to be dismissed.

It had gained impetus, naturally, from the fact that the Mayor had never sent for me in almost two months, whereas before I had been in his office once or twice a day. Nothing of importance came up in this time, to require my calling upon him.

Mexico Defers Closing of Schools.

MEXICO CITY, April 19.—The Government has decided to postpone enforcement of the Department of Education's recent decision to close all schools in which religious instruction is being given. A special Government commission will investigate the situation prior to putting the department's order into effect. Under an article in the Constitution religious instruction may not be given in schools in Mexico.

TURKEY CALLS UP ARMY RESERVES; DOUBLES FORCES

Increase in Peace-Time Strength Considered Indicative of Possible Trouble With Italy.

MUSSOLINI'S SPEECHES CAUSE NERVOUSNESS

London Papers Have Rumors That Italian Dictator Intends to Enlist Support of Greece.

By Associated Press.
LONDON, April 19.—Turkey's new levy of army conscripts is causing general speculation and is regarded in various quarters as giving substance to recent rumors of contemplated Italian or Italo-Greek aggression at Turkey's expense.

Turkey is calling up the military classes of men of 21 and 22 years of age and all the reserve men of from 23 to 26. The urgent action of the Turkish recruiting bureau is said to be causing considerable nervousness among the people of Turkey.

While there is nothing concrete on which to base fears of an attack on Turkey, the increase of the army is considered suggestive of danger.

Mussolini's Speeches Noted.

Premier Mussolini's recent speeches and his reference in February to Italy's "Napoleonic Year" is being interpreted, not alone in Turkey, as seriously aggressive and as suggesting an intention to achieve colonial expansion in Anatolia.

From Ankara, the Turkish capital, come advices to the effect that every one has been following closely Mussolini's voyage to Tripoli and the general political situation, and that Turkey has not failed to make proper preparations.

The Constantinian newspapers decline to believe that Italy would make an unprovoked attack on Turkey, but they express satisfaction that the Turkish Government is taking precautions.

Recently London newspapers have printed rumors of an alleged dream by Mussolini to enlist the support of Greece for his imperial ambitions. These rumors alleged that Greece, through long credit contracts with Italy, would purchase rifles, tanks and other munitions which could be used against Turkey in Thrace while Mussolini was taking action in Asia Minor.

Secret Treaty of 1915.

The Daily Express says a secret treaty the Allies signed in 1915, conditionally promised Italy a just share of the region adjacent to Adalia (a seaport of Asia Minor in the Vilayet of Konieh) and this agreement has not been fulfilled. The Express adds:

"Italian munition firms, motor firms and industrial firms are working day and night to provide Greece with tanks and armored cars and artillery and other arms and munitions, which are now pouring into Greece, where the disastrous defeat by the Turks in 1922 still rankles. President Pangalos of Greece is modeling himself into a Mussolini."

It is estimated that the men called to the Turkish colors yesterday, added to those already summoned in connection with the Kurdish trouble and the Irak dispute with Great Britain, will bring the Turkish Army to about double its normal peace strength of about 120,000 officers and men.

Chamberlain and Mussolini Said to Have Deal on Abyssinia.

Copyright, 1926, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co., New York World and Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, April 19.—French opposition has been aroused by publication in England of a reported agreement between Foreign Secretary Chamberlain and Premier Mussolini to divide British and Italian spheres of influence in Abyssinia.

It is declared here that no such agreement is possible without French participation, and France is opposed to spheres of influence which affect the only independent country in Africa.

The kingdom of the Ras Tafari, a member of the League of Nations, in French opinion must not be hemmed in by agreements between European powers. It is declared that though Abyssinia has won her independence politically she is in danger of losing it economically and French critics insist that the Abyssinians be left alone and that Mussolini turn his ideas of expansion elsewhere.

Greek Foreign Minister Denies Making Agreement With Italy.

The Careless Pedestrian.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN most of the discussions noted in your columns, it is to be seen that you oppose the attitude of the Auto Club with regard to making it compulsory for every autoist to carry liability insurance. It would seem to the impartial observer that there are two sides to this question, as well as to all others, and it has been my observation that about 90 per cent of all auto-pedestrian accidents are caused by the careless and indifferent attitude of the pedestrian himself.

An hour's observation at a busy corner of intersection, especially where there is an automatic signal, will show that while the law makes it mandatory for the automobile to come to a stop or to move according to the signal, the pedestrian is under no such obligation, and in many instances will try to wend his way across the street in opposition to the signal; yet if the autoist injures this careless pedestrian, he is hailed before the court and either fined or jailed—and it is this class of people who no doubt would be most benefited by any law having compulsory liability insurance as its object.

It would seem that the solution most practical, and one which is in successful use in many cities and towns, would be to inflict the same penalties upon the careless pedestrian as upon the careless autoist, for the careless pedestrian has caused just as much property damage and just as much personal injury as has the careless autoist.

Do Figures Mean Anything?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I AM one of those amateur statisticians who like to tangle with figures. It certainly takes some juggling to try and puzzle out any mathematical deduction from your first-page story of Sunday's Post-Dispatch, headed "U. R. crowding more fares into fewer cars, it reports."

You say 1224 street cars were used daily during the first quarter of 1926, as against 1250 for the same period last year, when the passengers were 269,167 less in number.

As there are 90 days in the first quarter of the year, this will give us 2980.7 more passengers per day for the first quarter of 1926 than in 1925. They traveled in 1224 cars, therefore into each car for the day were crowded 2.5 more passengers. As I like to stand up anyway during the rush hour going home, I have not noticed that these 2.5 more people have added to the overcrowding.

Here is what gets my goat: Your skilled figure says immediately beneath the above statement, "In the last quarter of 1925 the railways carried 2,312,000 more passengers than in the first quarter of 1926, with 140 fewer cars."

There were 92 days in the last quarter of 1925, therefore there were 25,130 more passengers daily than in the first quarter of 1926. Carrying daily 25,000 less passengers the street railway, according to this, have generously added 140 more cars for the first quarter of 1926.

"So is your old man." What is he trying to ask us to believe?

HORACE HOROSCOPE.

Plan for a 2,000,000 City.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

ST. LOUIS, an old city built at haphazard, is being reconstructed and re-modelled also haphazard. We are spending $17,000,000 widening streets so that thoroughfares designed for pack horses that carried furs for the original settlers may be used by buses, trucks, electric cars four abreast, going different ways, at 40 miles an hour. We are constructing sewers and great public buildings on a patchwork plan. We are talking grade crossings of railroads on the same plan.

Why not take the large view and reconstruct by adequate plan? Why not dispose of all grade crossings in one plan? Make a "right" to put some street cars and perhaps some motor traffic underground in congested districts. Construct huge conduits under ground so that public service companies won't be compelled to tear up paving that was laid at great expense. One concrete pavement cannot be economically torn up and replaced. Then the public service companies take turns in tearing up streets, which adds to the destruction and which impedes traffic. Put conduits on streets to take care of all heavy public service companies, installation, gas, water, electric, telephone, which should be underground.

Above all, plan for subways which will take in the East Side traffic and coordinate all public service passenger transportation bus, electric and steam. Let us plan for 1975 and a city of 2,000,000 people while we are about it. When widening many thoroughfares, why not construct the necessary subways, conduits etc., and tent them to the public service companies? X. Y. Z.

JEFFERSON'S SECOND COMING.

It would be a curious irony in the political history of the United States if the present march toward Federal empire were to be halted by the political descendants of Alexander Hamilton, rather than by those of Thomas Jefferson. Yet some of the most vigorous protests against the alarming concentration of governmental power at Washington, at the expense of the states, are being made by Republicans. Although events since the war have resulted in a recrudescence of Jeffersonianism, in a new and vivid realization of the wisdom of Jefferson's political principles, the Democratic party has failed to seize the leadership of the movement.

Thus we find such regular Republicans as Senator Wadsworth of New York and Senator Bingham of Connecticut issuing rousing appeals against Federal encroachment on the local and domestic concerns of the citizens of the United States. Senator Wadsworth says that, unless this is resisted, we shall have transformed within a very brief period the entire structure of this Government as organized by the fathers. "We shall then," he says, "no longer be a federal union of states, whose inhabitants are competent to manage their own affairs. Instead, we shall have established an imperial government, our sense of responsibility will have disappeared, our initiative will be destroyed and democracy will have been wiped off the map." Striking and ominous words are these, especially when they issue from the mouth of a disciple of the great Federalist, Hamilton.

And Senator Bingham fervently warns us that "if we take away from the communities the power of local self-government their ability to govern themselves will atrophy. Eventually our system of government will fall because the citizens have neither ability to think nor power to act as responsible citizens."

In uttering such sound Democratic doctrine, Wadsworth and Bingham are not looked upon as heretical. Last Memorial Day Mr. Coolidge, the font of regular Republicanism, the ark of the Hamiltonian covenant, spoke in this wise:

What we need is not more Federal government, but better local government. Our country was conceived in the theory of local self-government. It has been benefited by long practice to that wise and beneficent policy. It is the foundation principle of our system of liberty. It makes the largest promise to the freedom and development of the individual. Its preservation is worth all the effort and all the sacrifices that it may cost.

The evils of Federal empire are being brought home to Republicans, especially those in the richer, more heavily populated Eastern states, in various ways. Not the least important is the revision against the 50-50 system of Federal reciprocity, by which the Federal Government matches each state dollar for divers purposes, in addition to road-building, which is constitutional and proper, such as agricultural extension work, industrial education and in the business of telling mothers how to rear their infants. This 50-50 system, once started, is limitless in the uses to which it may be applied and in the interference with state and private affairs which it necessarily involves.

Apart from other objections to this partial vassalage of states to Washington is the injustice it works on the larger communities. States like New York pay huge sums into the Federal Treasury and get back trifling amounts in these "bonuses." Other states pay small sums into the Federal Treasury and receive in return "bonuses" much more than the taxes they pay. Thus people in New York are educating children and caring for infants for people of Nevada.

That partly explains why Hamiltonians like Wadsworth and Bingham and Coolidge are raising their voices in Jeffersonian accents, why they are actually pleading for a return to the sound doctrines of the man who founded the Democratic party. But the issue is much greater; it involves the integrity of our whole governmental structure and, what is more important, the character and the happiness of our citizens. The man who can personally this movement, who can pick up the fallen torch of Jefferson and carry it forward will be America's man of the hour.

That owl that flew into the White House didn't stay long. The wise bird knew it had met its master.

ANOTHER PIGEON IN TROUBLE.

The Post-Dispatch several times has had occasion to defend pigeons editorially. Once when the MacMillan arctic expedition planned to feed their carrier pigeons chewing tobacco we protested in the name of morality. Another time our City Hall pigeons were about to face a firing squad and end their lives in a pigeon pie, but again we protested, and although the pigeons sent no letter to the people's column thanking us, we feel sure they were grateful.

And now a pigeon is in trouble once more. Police are holding in Detroit an unidentified carrier pigeon suspected of being accessory before the fact in the Jackson murder case. This pigeon has maintained an air of absolute secrecy, despite threats by detectives to grill it. However, the prisoner at the time of its arrest was in possession of a message which read "Eddie Mitchell will tell you all." Police say this message has a bearing on the mystery as Eddie Mitchell was an alias of the dead woman's husband.

We demand fair treatment for the unhappy bird. Its demeanor has been one of purest innocence. It is not a stool pigeon. Obviously, if third degree methods are used the pigeon will weaken as no bird can stand a grilling. It might make admissions which of course would be repudiated in court later and cause the State embarrassment. We doubt very much that this pigeon had anything to do with the murder. When the truth becomes known we think it will be that this bird was making its way home one night, and had stopped to rest on a back fence, when suddenly a large man in a black cloak seized it, tied the damaging message to its leg and said: "Now beat it, before I wring your neck." So what could the pigeon do but take the air? We'll bet this pigeon has an alibi. We understand that at the time of the murder it was visiting relatives in Lincoln Park, Chicago.

PROPOSED FRISCO-ROCK ISLAND CONSOLIDATION.

The Frisco and Rock Island railroads have been authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission to create an interlocking directorate.

This action by the commission suggests that the members do not look with disfavor upon the proposed consolidation of the two systems.

President Kurn of the Frisco, in presenting his argument before that body, said, "We make this application for permission to serve as directors on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific . . . in order to accomplish what is uppermost in our minds—the final unification of the properties;" and "in order that we can . . . work out in an intelligent, economic and consistent manner the unification plan we have in mind."

At the public hearings before the commission, no protests were made against this merger. The Railroad Committee of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce endorsed it.

It is interesting to note that President Loree, at the head of the movement to consolidate the Cotton Belt, Missouri-Kansas-Texas and Kansas City Southern, and President Kurn, who heads the Frisco-Rock Island merge, are moving with due caution and deliberation toward their respective objectives. They have in mind, no doubt, the debacle and near financial scandal in the attempted Van Sweringen consolidation.

The combining of the Frisco and the Rock Island will create a railroad system of the first magnitude. There will be over 13,000 miles of trackage. The Frisco covers, on the south, territory with a wealth of coal and cotton; the Rock Island, to the north, a great grain producing area. In all this territory St. Louis merchants find a market, and from it, in return, our consumers draw heavily.

St. Louis will demand conclusive proof that the merger plan as outlined is to her interest. We expect management in the best interests of the public, expeditious service, direct routings and ample terminal facilities.

THE 48-HOUR WEEK.

The New York Assembly, with a Republican majority, has defeated a bill to limit the hours of labor in a week for women and children in industry to 48 hours, notwithstanding the Republican party of that State endorsed the measure in its last platform.

Powerful interests opposed the bill. Other powerful interests which from their emotional professions might have been expected earnestly to support it showed no concern about it at all.

The Antislavery League, for example, whose heart bleeds copiously for the working classes, was stirred to no action whatever. And such patron saints of the league as Judge Gary and John D. Rockefeller Jr. were never seen in Albany lobbying furiously for this bill.

Perhaps the Antislavery League's failure to get behind this proposed law and drive it through with the organized coercion it has learned to apply so effectively can be understood. Just now the league has a fight on its hands that is engaging all its resources. It may, therefore, be excused for not rallying en masse to this struggle for social justice and industrial decency.

But as regards such untouchable guides and moral monitors as Mr. Gary and Mr. Rockefeller, would it not be quite as becoming in them to bespeak the enactment of the 48-hour law as to preach enforcement of the dry law?

We rather think it would.

"AS THE STARS KEEP TIME."

In the short but absorbing story, in the Post-Dispatch, of the pressing of a wireless key in London which turned on the lights in Radio House, Staten Island and started radio loud speakers music in every room, occurred the arresting phrase, "absolute time, as the stars keep time."

Mariners can tell the time by the stars, but that time is earth's time, on a certain meridian. What, then, is "absolute time" as the stars keep it? The writer of this radio story, dealing with the speed of the impulses which leaped from London to New York, and simultaneously to San Francisco and Honolulu, out in the Pacific, and back to London, explains: "It was all one and the same instant, for the radio signal has sped at the rate of 185,000 miles a second."

From this point of view, the news writer appears to be trying to tell us that in our use of the electric current we are approaching timelessness, abolishing the time illusion, putting London, New York, Honolulu and places many meridians apart as it were on the same meridian, as far as time is concerned. And while abolishing both space and time, we have in this invention the means of keeping exact time with our instruments of time measurement, and of realizing as we never could have realized before, time's value and opportunities.

THE EVILS OF THESE TIMES.

This old world won't go to the dogs if President Heber J. Grant of the Mormon Church can help it. As the successor of Joseph Smith and Brigham Young Grant stands like a rock against the evils which corrode society at the present time. At the ninety-sixth annual Mormon conference Grant, who is ex-officio president of the Utah-Idaho Sugar Co., viewed many things with alarm.

Women's dress, for example. "Our daughters," said he, "even our mothers—yes, and even our grandmothers—have adopted costumes which do not hold in consideration the sacredness of the human body." Teas and tea, for another. Grant denied indignantly a recent social item which announced that a tea had been given in his home. "We don't serve tea at our house," he protested, "not even to our closest friends."

As for women smoking, Grant refused to believe an article in a newspaper saying that the leading business women in the world today use tobacco. The article was signed by a woman, but it was Grant's shrewd surmise that "it is merely a pen name used by tobacco men to further their business interests." Grant, as president of a big sugar company, knows the wiles of business men.

We dread to think what Grant might say of bobbed hair, rolled socks and the Charleston. Perhaps Salt Lake City is still free of those precursors of the downfall of our civilization. But one thing is certain—neither flaming youth nor flaming age gets to first base in President Grant's estimation.

FASCINATION.

You are as elusive as a humming-bird,
And chill as cracked-ice in a fall, green goblet.
And changeable as clouds at sunset.
And for all of this, I love you.

Were you as steadfast as the pyramids,
Or passionate as a scarlet poppy,
Or certain as our day of parting,
I should change my mind.

JULIA CLOFTON CRESAP.

Seeing the St. Louis-in-Color exhibition at the Artists' Guild is to realize what it would have meant to us had the old St. Louis boasted, together with its fur traders, duellists and steamboat captains, a few good artists. We do not know, nor can it come to be known, whether the old St. Louis was lovely or not. It probably was, but the art was so bad that we can believe it was so by faith alone. Not so the new St. Louis. Our memories of it at least shall be preserved in good painting, in charming man or bird, means, "get out," "vamosos," or "take the air."

The true story as to why the White House owl left the capitol grounds, having never been told, this writer will tell it. While taking one of his strolls the President unexpectedly encountered this Solomon of birds and fixing his keen and penetrating Vermont eye upon his owlish head he jerked his thumb significantly backward across his shoulder, which action in all languages, human or bird, means, "get out," "vamosos," or "take the air."

The wise old bird sagely cocked his head on one side and in a plaintive voice said, "Hoo! Quicker than a rifle shot came back the reply, 'You!' And that is all there was to it."

Congressional Record please copy. O. S.

It is all very regrettable and sad, or whatever other deplorable-sounding adjectives you happen to have in your vocabulary; but probably nothing much can be done for it. If the country should ever be in great danger we might become aroused by our political lethargy long enough to go to the rescue; but in this jaded and Charleston-stepping age, unless the old ship of state is seen to be leaking too badly, or is perilously near the rocks, most of us will continue to cry, "On with the dance, and let George do the voting!"

O. S.

If we may judge by reports of what was said in the pulpit one way and another around the country on yesterday, the country is spending six days a week frivolously and getting well scolded for it on the seventh.

IN MISSOURI.

(Osborne, Mo., Enterprise.)

They paid off a church debt down at North Greenfield Church, near Springfield, the other night with a hugging social. Eight hundred people attended, and $75 was raised. The rates:
Girls under 15, for a two-minute hug 15 cents.
Girls 15 to 20, same for 25 cents.
Girls 20 to 25, same for 50 cents.
Other men's wives, same for 75 cents.
Old maids, three cents and no time limit.

Sir: That scholarly philosopher, I. W. S., said something. The Wandell-Minnigerode attempt to make a sound monk of a sick devil is innocent of sheer perversity or an urge to write down history to the mechanics of the fictional requirements of the modern magazine. Neither is environment culpable (though Minnigerode is alleged to be an Oxford graduate and a Rhodes scholar) but an assault upon authentic Americans from so effete a fountain-head seems almost natural. It is simply a matter of cultural heredity, literary eugenics as it were.

We are wallowing in the deluge of modernist-scientific renaissance, born in the latter half of the last century. As a result, we are engulfed in a flood of intellectual mediocrities and literary hacks who huffoon on the thrones of philosophy, religion and education and jape in the curricula of letters.

For Hamilton we can shed a tear; but for Burr, even when led by the hand of the gifted Theodosia, nary a briny trickle. Yet, in a world of letters, which has made its own philosophers' stone, thereby transforming jungle gyrations into terpsichorean ballets into symphonies, virtue into experience, modesty into nakedness, decency into stupidity, and success into the only catch-as-catch-can, verily, we can readily hope for literary sponsors to fawn, oily reprobates like Burr from the shadowy depths of the demimonde and project it into the clear heights of respectability. Nowadays, humanity is not merely clay, even common clay is plain mud—and mud is mud. Unlike clay, it cannot be molded by the potter's form. Thus it is only inevitable that we tear down from Olympia, Washington, Jefferson, Hamilton, Jackson and other revered shades to meet elevated snarls, crows like Burr on a common level of democracy—a very, very common level, you know. That is modern and scientific, if not dynamic. Yet, was it not current, even in the last days of the Roman Republic: "Epicuri de grege porcum?"

THE ISSUE IN NEW JERSEY.

From the New York World.

WHEN Gov. A. Harry Moore of New Jersey says that officials of Bergen and Passaic counties "should be encouraged in any lawful effort to do the duty" he comes pretty near hitting the bull's-eye. The trouble in Bergen and Passaic counties today is that the officials in these counties are being encouraged in every unlawful effort to do what is not their duty.

It is the duty of Mayors and Sheriffs to maintain peace and public order. It is not the duty of Mayors and Sheriffs to lead in the American scheme of things it has never been the duty of Mayors and Sheriffs to deny the rights of free speech, orderly assembly to American communities simply because these officials themselves have lost their heads. It is not the duty of Mayors and Sheriffs to lead the authority of their offices to what is plain and unmistakably a deliberate use of martial law to break a strike. It is not the duty of Mayors and Sheriffs to use the act to suspend all civil proceedings for an indefinite period in order that persons who are urging other peaceable citizens to obey the law may be thrown into jail, secretly arraigned, denied counsel and held in bail for sums of money which are simply ludicrous.

Gov. Moore hit the bull's-eye with his statement yesterday, but he failed miserably to apply the theory of his argument to the actual situation which exists today in New Jersey counties. It is true that the Governor has no power to take direct action in this matter and to remove local officials from office. But the Governor does have power to do something more than condone a disgraceful situation. He can at least point out that civil liberties are openly and flagrantly being violated and he can denounce the officials who are parties to such action. He can talk straight from the shoulder, as other Governors have talked straight from the shoulder. He can refuse to pat county bureaucrats on the back, as if they were actually engaged in every lawful effort to do their duty, and he can tell these county bureaucrats that they are doing something which is contemptible.

If the Governor of New Jersey wishes to associate himself approvingly with what has been going on in Bergen and Passaic counties, that is to his own discredit. The fight for civil liberties must and will be carried forward, because civil liberties are more important than the petty wrangles of any mill or the petty squabbles of any county. It is high time for us to discover who owns Bergen and Passaic counties—a battery of a few great mills or the people of New Jersey.

SEWARD'S FOLLY.

From the New York Sun.

ALASKA has already contributed handsomely to the food fish supply of the nation; now reindeer meat from its herds is to be brought to the tables of the multitude. What would the critics of "Seward's folly" have said if they had known the iceberg he bought would not feed dwellers on the Atlantic coast?

DRAMA

Woodward Players Give "Scandal" at Empress—"Rose Marie" at Shubert-Rialto.

"SCANDAL," the play at the Empress this week, has not become any more beautiful in the five years since it was first produced. The playing has done nothing for this piece of Cosmo Hamilton, that eminent master of subtlety. But it is a workable and a not bad piece of stage business; acting the right way, and doing much for it, and the Woodward Players give it valiantly.

With a play that offers any opportunities, this troupe usually gives a good brand of work. Consequently the more possible the play offers an acting standpoint, the better the performance. It is only company has turned out as "The Bird of Paradise" and "The Bird of Paradise" and other such fare that they should be congratulated. Yesterday Jean Oliver gave a performance which was just about as good as any she has given since she came back in 1921. Glynn McFarlane and Leo Linhard were excellent, and John Holden, a new recruit, set a good example. Holden doesn't look much like the actor, but he is direct from the dressing room.

"Rose-Marie" Here for Third Time During This Season. The perennial "Rose-Marie" arrived at the Shubert-Rialto last night for its third visit during the present season, with a cast—known as the Philadelphia company—includes Dorothy Seegar, Harry Kroll, Marjorie Dodd, Charles Meade, Hazel Gaudreau and Robert Rhodes. The singing is adequate and the acting nearly so.

Richard Champion Hagelacher on Medicine Bill at Orpheum. RIG HAGELACHER, champion of the world at 15 & 3 ball-line billiards, is appearing at the Orpheum this week. A mirror permits the audience to watch his title. Hagelacher won his title "Young" Jake Schaefer, who had won it from Willie Hoppe, is now chalking his cue for a go at Hagelacher. The headline on the bill is the Avon Comedy Four, a fairish sort of male quartet, disguised as comedians. The show is probably the poorest since the year of the big wind.

The acts include: Ward and Dooley in singing, dancing, bicycle riding and rope spinning; George Ford and Flo Cunningham in breezily agreeable patter; Lydia Harris, an offensive red-hot-mamma shout; Amelia Allen, a rule-booked dancer of contortions, assisted by some boys, notably George Clifford, and Frank Dobson and girls in a skit entitled "The Love Doctor."

Mr. and Mrs. Geraghty of 54 have issued in Chicago of their marriage of their daughter, Miss Geraghty, to George of Kansas, April 25, at St. Catharine's.

ENVOY'S WELCOME TO SPAIN

American Presented to King Amid Brilliant Scenes.

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News.

MADRID, March 25.—Brilliant scenes marked the recent ceremony of the presentation of the American Envoy to Alfonso, King of Spain, in the presence of the dictator, Primo Rivera and many dignitaries. The Ambassador's staff, consisting of John F. Martin, chargé d'affaires, the military attaché, commercial attaché, and Secretary Dodd, were conveyed in royal coaches, drawn by six horses and escorted by a full bodyguard from the Embassy to the palace.

Large crowds witnessed the procession through the streets and the entrance into the palace courtyard. Ambassador Ogden's message read before the throne, was an extremely cordial salutation from the American president and his personal profession of eagerness to do all in his power to promote and intensify the friendship between the two nations. King Alfonso, replying, expressed his gratification and assurance that the Ambassador's efforts would meet with the utmost good will on the part of the Spanish nation.

Three Killed in Crossing Crash.
By the Associated Press.
HARLEM, Ga., April 19.—Three persons were instantly killed last night when an automobile in which they were riding was struck at a grade crossing at Sawdust, one mile west of Harlem, by a passenger train. The dead: Miss Gladys Thompson, 20 years old, of Harlem, Ga.; T. B. Jones, 26, of McKenney, Va.; and Homer East, 22, of Roanoke, Va.

How Rinso saves me money on washday

I USED to buy all sorts of things to get the wash clean and white. Bar soaps, clipped soaps, washing powders—even a water softener, because the water here is hard.

But since I discovered Rinso, I've been using nothing else. Not only does it save my strength, but it saves me money because it's the only soap I need.

The heavy Rinso package is filled with the compact Rinso grains that dissolve so quickly, soak out the dirt and stains, and get the wash snowy white—without a bit of hard rubbing!

And I don't need to waste gas under a boiler, because Rinso soaking whiteners better than boiling—and sterilizes, too!

Just ask your grocer for

ELEVENTH MAN SLAIN IN FEUD OVER GIRL

"Max the Litwick" Latest Victim of New York Gang War Begun in 1923.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 19.—A girl of the lower East Side transferred her smiles from one gangster to another three years ago, and by that whimsy caused a feud between two rival gangs of gunmen that has now taken a toll of 11 lives.

Max Goldberg, known as "Max the Litwick," was the eleventh victim in the warfare between the "Kid Dropper" and the "Little Augie" gangs. A woman called him by telephone early yesterday. As he was going to the telephone in the hallway outside his restaurant at 86 Orchard street, two gunmen opened the street door and fired two shots that pierced Goldberg's brain. The gunman escaped. Goldberg was a member of the "Little Augie" gang. His partner, Meyer Albert, a member of the same gang, was killed in a street fight last year.

The warfare started in 1922 when Louis Schwartzman, known as "the Midget," and a member of the "Little Augie" gang, was shot to death one evening as he was sitting on the doorstep of his home at 22 Rutgers street. Beside him was Edna Chargin, who had transferred her affections to him from Louis Kaplan, "Kid Dropper." Soon afterward "Kid Dropper" himself was killed as he was leaving police court, surrounded by detectives. He had just been cleared of complicity in the murder of Schwartzman. Louis Cohen of the "Little Augie" is now serving a life term for the murder of Kaplan.

SALE OF GOLD CANYON MINING STOCK IN STATE STOPPED

Former Kansas Senator Said to Have Been Paid $100 a Week for His Name.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 18.—The Gold Canyon Mining Co. of Kansas City yesterday was ordered by the State Securities Commission, F. T. Stockard, to make no further attempt to sell its securities in Missouri, under penalty of criminal prosecution under the State "blue sky" law. The company had not qualified its securities in compliance with the Missouri law and had not obtained a permit to sell them.

Stockard said investigation disclosed that promoters of the company had persuaded C. C. Palmer, 73 years old, of Kansas City, former State Senator in Kansas, to permit use of his name as president of the company and paid him a salary of $100 a week without any duties being performed. Palmer withdrew as president when he learned there was some doubt as to value of $250,000 in bonds the promoters were attempting to sell, Stockard said. The promotion involved a mining property near Tucson, Ariz.

GANG GETS $3000 IN RAID ON LOAN SHOP; MAN BEATEN

Four Robbers Hold Up J. M. Wittels at 2001 Market Street and Make Him Open Five Safes.

STRUCK ON HEAD FOR BEING SLOW

Janitor Slugged When He Tries to Run — Plunder Includes $6000 in Jewelry, Watches and Cash.

Jewelry and pledges valued at $6000, and $3000 in cash were taken by four robbers in a holdup at 8:05 a. m. yesterday at the Wittels Loan and Mercantile Co., 2001 Market street. The loot included 115 watches.

Joseph Morris Wittels, secretary-treasurer of the company, was in the rear room of the store reading a newspaper, when the four men entered, preceded by four Negroes, who are thought to have been found on the sidewalk and herded into the place. One of the holdup men slugged Robert Littlejohn, janitor, when he tried to run, and made him and Irwin Winters, clerk, lie on the floor.

Wittels was compelled to open five safes, which the men looted systematically. When he fumbled the combination of one of the safes he was struck on the head with a revolver. The robbers escaped by the front door.

Wittels told the police he had burglary but no holdup insurance, so his loss was not covered. The fact that he himself opened the safes precluded any possibility of collecting burglary indemnity.

He described one robber as wearing a light topcoat and fedora hat, but could give no description of the others beyond saying they were young and well dressed. All of them were masked.

Two Bus Conductors Are Held Up and Robbed of $20 and $23.

Three men in a new sedan held up Walter Lammert, a conductor for the People's Motorbus Co., when his bus stopped at Grand boulevard and Carondelet park at 10:40 p. m. yesterday, and took $20. An hour later three men in a car of the same description held up Virgil Wallace, conductor of a People's Lindenwood bus at Scanlan avenue and the Frisco tracks and took $23.

John West, occupant of a houseboat at "the Island" just west of Venice, was arrested yesterday on complaint of Charles Berger of 117 East Grand boulevard, and identified by Berger as the man who slugged him and robbed him of $14 near his home at 5 p. m. Saturday. Berger's outcries at the time attracted the notice of his son, Joseph, who pursued the robber to the Mississippi River where the robber jumped into a rowboat and set off for the Illinois shore.

Lott P. Owens, 65, of 4314 North Eleventh street, yesterday reported that he was held up and slugged Saturday night at Twelfth and Carr streets by three Negroes who took $5 and his watch.

Admits $31 Holdup Story Was Fake to Fool His Wife.

Sidney Pratte, 36, a mechanic, of 3855 Washington boulevard, yesterday reported he had been held up and robbed of $51 but later admitted, according to Sgt. Harry Doherty, that he had fabricated the story to deceive his wife after he had lost $40 in a poker game Saturday night.

Burglars got into the Brown Business College at 5652 Easton avenue early yesterday and so thoroughly smashed the safe combination that an expert had to be employed to open it today to ascertain the loss, if any. Burglars also got into the Schoenling grocery at 551 Skinker road early yesterday and broke the combination in the same manner.

Robert Mitchell, 19, Negro, of 927 North Ewing avenue, was arrested on suspicion at Page boulevard and Hollamont avenue Saturday night and admitted, according to detectives, that he had stolen 10 electric fans from the Wagner Electric Co., 6400 Plymouth avenue, where he has been employed as a janitor.

Detectives, in hiding at the South-eastern Express Co., at 206 Tom street, at midnight Saturday, arrested two men who were driving away with four auto tires and two bales of goods valued at about $300. They said they were Leroy Purdy, 20, of 2828 Barrett street, and George Kelly, 34, of 6134 Pershing avenue. The man who had been carrying the stock to the auto truck fled. The detectives had been stationed there to solve a series of thefts.

POLISH POLITICIAN SHOT

Officer Attacks Man About to Be Acquitted of Embezzling.

WARSAW, Poland, April 18.—Hubert Lunde, who several years ago founded the directory of the Polish postal savings bank and was Polish Finance Minister for a short time in 1923, was shot and mortally wounded by a non-commissioned officer Friday. Last fall Lunde was compelled to resign his post because of the discovery of alleged embezzlements in his bank, and was ordered to stand trial. Lunde was able to prove to the court that he was innocent, and his acquittal was expected. The verdict was to be pronounced Monday.

Proceeding to his home, Lunde was confronted by a non-commissioned officer named Omielowski, who shot him with a revolver, declaring that he was taking the law into his own hands, since the court punishment.

GREEN is "coming" in home decoration

so Armstrong now presents
NEW greens in beautiful floor designs

MORE than a mere spin of fashion's wheel lies behind the swing toward green in home decorating.

Green is restful to the eye. Green harmonizes well with other tones in walls and furnishings. Above all, green is such a comfortable color to live with.

When you shop this week ask to be shown the new patterns of Armstrong's Linoleum in soft pastel shades of green.

Examine closely, for instance, a tile pattern in which green predominates. Notice what an unusually pleasing shade of green we have achieved.

The mere fact that only the finest of carefully ground and reground pigments are used to obtain this color may not interest you. But your eyes will certainly be delighted with it and with the manner in which the tiles are so neatly set in place.

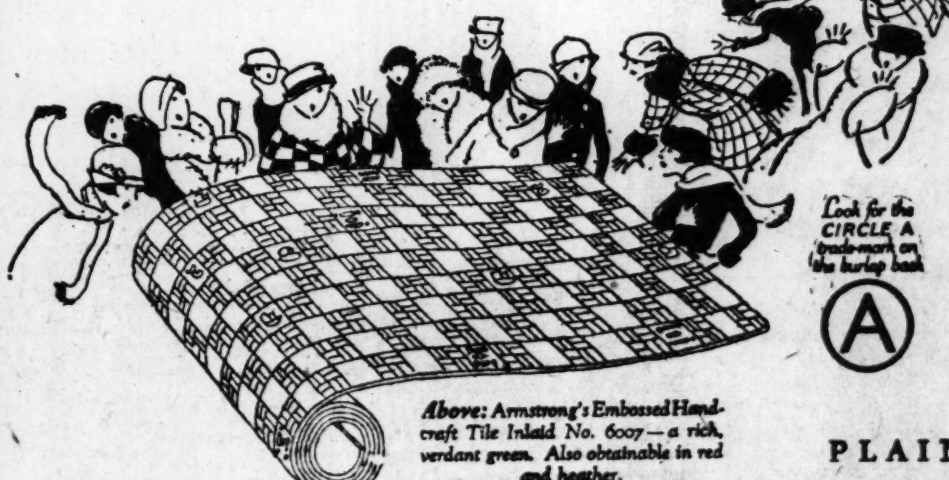

Touch the surface of the pattern. Did you ever know that linoleum was made with a surface so smooth, so free from "cloth marks," so velvety?

Be sure to see Armstrong's Embossed Handcraft Tile Inlaid

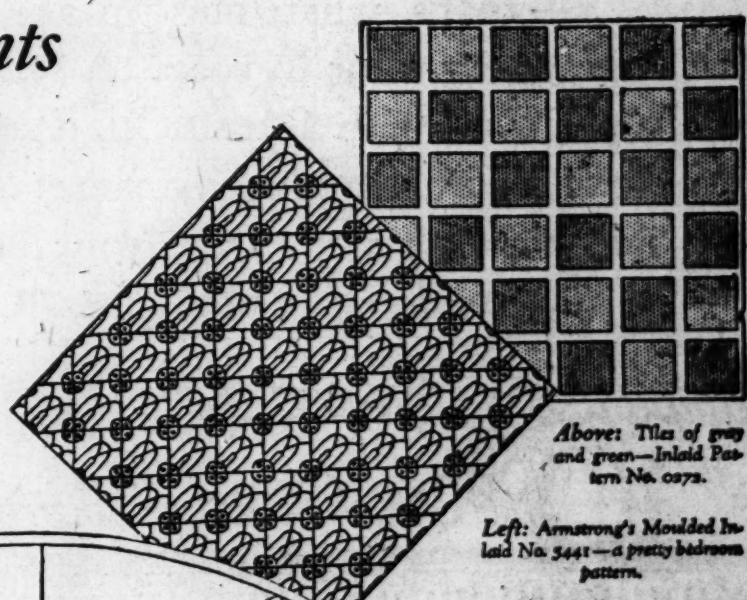

If you would like "texture" in your floors, then by all means see this unusual floor. Not only have differing tones of tiles been combined with no appearance of a pattern "repeat," but each tile is framed with an interliner that is actually countersunk.

Look also at the new marbleized tiles of Armstrong's, patterns in which the "marbling" or graining runs through to the burlap back. See the new Handcraft Tile Inlaid. Armstrong's Jaspé you probably have already admired; but have you inspected the-marble tiles, all-over effects, and mosaics?

These beautiful floors will last for a lifetime if they are cemented in place over a lining of builders' deadening felt.

Above: Armstrong's Embossed Handcraft Tile Inlaid No. 6007—a rich, verdant green. Also obtainable in red and heather.

Above: Tiles of gray and green—Inlaid Pattern No. 6072.

If you pay rent—Armstrong's Linoleum RUGS

Made of genuine cork linoleum—sizes from 6 x 9 feet up to 12 x 15 feet. A wide selection of attractive patterns. And a choice of two kinds—printed or inlaid linoleum rugs—both at moderate prices.

FREE for home-planners

"The Attractive Home—How to Plan Its Decoration" will guide any woman who is planning to do over a room or a series of rooms. Twenty-four pages filled with photographs and color paintings of interesting interiors that women have achieved with floors of Armstrong's Linoleum. Drop us a post card for it.

ONE reason for the long wear of Armstrong's Printed Linoleum any other printed floor covering. Over a genuine cork-base linoleum body, the designs are printed in heavy linseed oil paints. Large areas are even double-printed, to offer greater resistance to wear and to "line up" the edges of the design. There are scores of pretty patterns from which to choose. They are even lower in price than Armstrong's Inlaid Linoleum.

Puffed Rice—"the enchanted breakfast"—some ways to serve

HERE'S a breakfast dish that tastes good when nothing else does; a dish to tempt the most difficult of appetites.
First, it's different from any other cereal dish known, and thus supplies the change that most persons crave at breakfast. Remember, variety is the secret of meals that attract.
Puffed Rice is so crispy that it crunches in the mouth like fresh toast. Each delicious grain is steam-puffed to eight times its normal size—it tastes like toasted nuts, only richer.
You serve with milk or cream, or in bowls of half and half; a dish wonderfully rich in food elements which provides the unique combination of food that's "good for you" that you eat because you love it. Serve, too, with fresh or cooked fruits (you'll find this delightful). Entice children like a confection. Obtain Puffed Rice at any grocery store. Make it tomorrow's breakfast.

JARDINE FOR U. S. AID FOR FARM MARKETERS

Secretary Indorses Tinchin Bill to Extend Credit to Co-operative Groups.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 19.—The full text of the Tinchin bill to extend Government credit to farmers' co-operative associations was indorsed before the House Agriculture Committee today by Secretary of Agriculture Jardine.

"It has been thoroughly impressed upon me," said Jardine, "that the basic surplus problem is not confined to any one section. It is a nation-wide problem. It has seemed to me fundamental that legislation designed to affect the price of farm products must have full regard not only for the common interest, but likewise for the conflicting interests of all regions. We can get nowhere with a national legislative program that helps some farmers at the expense of others."

"My own conviction," said Jardine, "is that the central problem is one of merchandising. Under that view it follows that legislative action should aim to supplement the efforts of farmer-controlled agencies and should enlarge their facilities by every possible and proper provision of credit, standardization, warehousing, etc., such as will tend to promote orderly distribution."

"During a crop year farmers experience peaks and valleys in prices due to irregular flow of products to the market, but over a relatively short number of years production of most crops is generally in fairly close line with consumptive requirements. With more liberal credit from the Government to co-operative associations, making it possible for them to achieve more orderly marketing, and to carry excess production from time of plenty to a time of need, I firmly believe that real progress can be made in adjusting the marketing of farm crops to consumptive needs."

HOLY NAME SPEAKER ASSAILS DIRT IN BOOKS AND PLAYS

Father Gillis in New York Denounces Decadent French Trend in American Literature.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 19.—Members of the realistic school of literature, the Belasco and Bradys in the dramatic field, and college professors of the rationalist type, were attacked yesterday at a Hotel Astor breakfast of the Holy Name Society of the New York Postoffice. The speaker was the Rev. James M. Gillis of the Paulist Fathers.

He said, "There are those who profess to see a menace to the republic of the United States in view of the fact that our acts are misunderstood, or misinterpreted, let me show you whom I would class as the real enemies of our republic."

"The most important group of enemies is the writing men, literary fellows who are straining every nerve to foist upon America the ultra sophistication, the blasé civilization of Europe. There is no simplicity no old-fashioned morality in their literature. They are following a decadent type of old French literature to pour poison into the minds of American youth. They have contempt for Main Street, meaning, of course, contempt for the respectable John Smith and his wife who love simplicity and honesty and who are unsophisticated. They prefer Broadway with its dirty plays and indecent naked revues. They prefer the Broadway of senselessness where, in the phrase of the day, 'everything goes.'"

"These are the real enemies of America."

ARMY OFFICERS EJECTED

They Made Protests at Y. M. C. A. Meeting Against Military Training.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 19.—Col. Robert A. Starr, commander of the 107th Coast Artillery, Lieut. Col. Howard E. Compton and several other officers were compelled by a policeman to leave the Bedford branch of the Y. M. C. A. while the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman was speaking against military training in colleges.

The army officers objected to certain remarks. When one of them started to heckle Dr. Cadman an usher ordered music to drown him out. Other ushers summoned a policeman.

WANTS TROOPS AT HERRIN

HERRIN, Ill., April 19.—State's Attorney Boswell today requested troops at the polling place in the four wards of Herrin tomorrow at the city's aldermanic election. Boswell's request to Col. Robert Davis follows.

"You are hereby requested to station six armed soldiers at each polling place in the four wards in Herrin, Ill., from six o'clock in the morning of April 20 until all persons connected with the election have dispersed from said polling place officially thereafter."

The request to deaths of six men killed last Tuesday will not sit tomorrow and it is doubtful if the inquiry can be completed by tonight.

Man Cuts Throat After Quarrel.

WISCONSIN BARS SALE OF BEGG'S FLORIDA LAND

Action Taken Partly Because Executors of Estate Refuse to Guarantee Promoters.

By the Associated Press.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 19.—The Florida real estate project in which the late John I. Beggs of St. Louis and Milwaukee, was heavily interested, has been barred from Wisconsin by the State Real Estate Board partly because executors of the Beggs estate have refused to guarantee the promoters.

After a hearing at which it was testified that only a restaurant, an administration building and a railroad station have been built at Indrio, Fla., the board refused to renew the license of the promoters, the Phelps Hendrickson Co., to sell real estate in Wisconsin.

It was testified that more than $100,000 a month has been spent on advertising and the total expenditure has reached $700,000. Sales total $5,100,000, of which about $2,000,000 has been paid in. Business lots have been sold at $10,000 and residence lots at $5000 and up. Wisconsin persons have invested about $200,000 in Indrio property. The Beggs estate holds $650,000 in bonds maturing in 1927. Beggs having taken the entire issue floated to finance the Indrio development.

WINNER CHARGES CONSPIRACY

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 19.—The bituminous coal industry is being forced into bankruptcy by the railroads, which are the largest consumers of the product, Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, today told the House Commerce Committee which is considering coal legislation.

Railroads are in "conspiracy" to dictate prices for their own fuel requirements, Murray said, because of 100 per cent overdevelopment in the bituminous industry and "the deplorable unorganized relationship of operators." Mine workers would not oppose creation of a Federal coal fact finding body, he added, if they were given ample representation and the group empowered to help correct the evils.

A washing method that improves on human hands ~ ~

You know how a teacup pushed down into water forces air into that water. Raise the cup, and the suction causes both air and water to follow. The same principle is used in the Easy Washer.

The Vacuum Cup Principle

The Easy's Vacuum Cups raised above the water and filled with air.

The three cups flushing air, soap and water through the fabric by pressure.

The cups drawing air, soap and water back through the fabric by suction. This action takes place sixty times a minute.

TO the left are three pictures that illustrate the one best washing method. This method, the Easy's Vacuum Cup Principle, does what the human hands do in washing clothes, but does it quicker and better.

In addition to handling fine, dainty things more gently than most human hands, the Vacuum Cup Principle of the Easy Washer gets all the dirt out of the heaviest, grimeiest pieces—and does it quickly and easily.

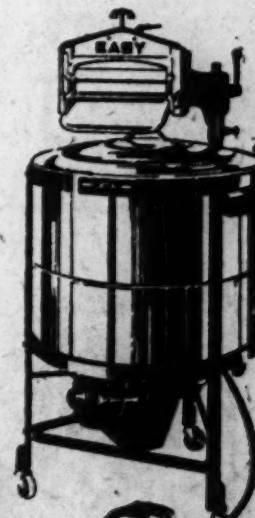

An Easy runs smoothly. Every detail is constructed with great precision. Hence the Easy lasts for years and years. There's no noise or vibration about it. No fuss or muss. It's good-looking, too. The aluminum wringer and glistening copper tub are an addition to any laundry. A flip of a cloth after the washing and the tub stays clean and sanitary.

The water always stays hot

A special feature of the Easy is its gas heater beneath the solid copper tub. This heater keeps the water at an even temperature all through the washing. The Easy's tub holds ten single sheets, and a tubful takes only a few minutes to wash. In no time at all and with no hard labor, your line is full of spotless clothes. All you have to do is press the button that starts the washer and move the lever that operates the wringer. There's nothing complicated about the entire machine.

Easy monthly terms
Any family can afford an Easy, because you can buy it on terms that suit you. A small deposit puts the Easy in your home, and the balance you can pay monthly.

We will gladly demonstrate one in your home, without the slightest cost or obligation. Drop us a line today or phone any Easy dealer, and on your regular washday the Easy and a demonstrator will be at your home to do your week's wash free.

The parachute by Smartz was designed by himself and Thomas Thompson, commercial aviator and lieutenant in the 329th Observation Squadron.

ZINC MINE OWNERS SEEK STABLE PRICES

American Institute Opens Convention Here With 150 Delegates.

Price adjustment in the Joplin, or tri-state district, is the most important business before the American Zinc Institute which began its eighth annual convention at the Coronado Hotel today. A committee of six mine operators and six smelter operators, appointed at last year's convention, to consider this subject, will hold a final conference today and will make recommendations to the convention at the closing session tomorrow.

The action of the committee is considered of importance because 66 per cent of the country's zinc is smelted in the tri-state district. Charges have been made that mine owners and smelting men have combined to regulate prices, which have fluctuated greatly. The adoption of a scale for price adjustment will have a beneficial effect both from the standpoint of the producer and consumer of zinc, promoters of the plan say.

Because of the importance of the committee's work, other business of the convention was set aside at this morning's session.

At the afternoon session today Adolph Boldt, Southern representative of the Chamber of Commerce spoke on "Business Conditions." C. O. Anderson, representative of the United States Bureau of Mines, and C. E. Siebenthal of the United States Geological Survey, also delivered addresses.

At a banquet this evening the speeches will be made by Dr. Edward J. Cattell, Philadelphia, author and lecturer, and Earle H. Hodges of New York, in charge of publicity for Henry L. Doherty & Co.

Tomorrow eight directors will be elected and new officers chosen by the directors. Addresses will be delivered by Edwin A. Scott, of New York, editor of the Sheet Metal Worker; Capt. James A. Stader of the United States Department of Commerce; Dr. Charles H. Fulton, director of the School of Mines and Metallurgy of the University of Missouri; and Otto Ruhl, Joplin mining engineer. About 150 delegates are in attendance.

TO WHITEN SKIN WITH LEMON JUICE

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

EIGHT KILLED IN CHICAGO IN FIRES AND ACCIDENTS

Four Deaths Result From Blaze at Drinking Party; Drug Addicts Fight Rescuers.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, April 19.—Eight persons were killed and 19 were injured in a series of fires and fire accidents yesterday.

Three persons died of injuries suffered when a combination gas and coal stove into which kerosene had been poured exploded during a birthday celebration. In addition, four persons were hurt so seriously that a physician despaired of their recovery. Three others suffered minor injuries.

Another fire, originating at a drinking party in a rooming house on North Dearborn street, resulted in four deaths and the injury of five persons, four of them firemen. Federal and city officials said the building included among its tenants a number of narcotic addicts who fought firemen who attempted to save them.

The seventh victim was George Mohr, a fire department lieutenant, who was killed in a crash between a fire truck and an automobile on the edge of the Loop. Two other firemen were hurt, and four occupants of the other car injured, one of them seriously.

In the Dearborn street fire William Kruger fought off firemen when they found him in a room on the fourth floor and attempted to carry him out. Kruger leaped from the window. He struck two firemen who were carrying an injured man down a ladder and they were knocked to the ground. Kruger was killed.

ENLARGED WEIL CLOTHING STORE FORMALLY OPENED

The enlarged and modernized store of the Weil Clothing Co. was officially opened to the public yesterday. The alterations give the store more than 20,000 feet of additional selling space. Beside the new rear front, which practically doubles the window display space, the alterations include the installation of two new elevators, enlarged service departments and rearrangement of selling departments.

This is the fourth enlargement of this firm since it started 15 years ago. Ralph Weil, president of the company, says the improvements are simply in keeping with the growth of St. Louis and the Washington avenue retail business in general. He declared his belief that the wholesale business district would gradually be forced further west until the entire space as far as Twelfth street would be occupied by retail stores.

BEST WINTER IN 100 YEARS

Russian Shepherd, 107, Back Home After Visit to Capital.

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News.

LENINGRAD, March 25.—When the snows were deep and the other villagers of Pakov district were hugging their stoves, Ivan Skomoroshkin, 107 years old, decided to come to Leningrad where the winter season is livelier. Skomoroshkin penned his sheep in a stable—he was a shepherd—wrapper his feet in birchbark and trudged through the snow to the city.

He found free shelter in the “peasants’ house,” and after a few days of sightseeing and loafing was given a job by the municipal street car company sweeping snow from its tracks. He caught a cold and the “flu,” but recovered and left for home with a new pair of shoes, a new suit of clothes and a railroad ticket from the welfare department. He said the winter was the liveliest he had enjoyed in the last 100 years, but city life, he declared, was too unhealthy.

THREE HELD ON GIRL'S CHARGE

By the Associated Press. DE KALB, Ill., April 19.—A special session of the grand jury has been called for Wednesday to act in the case of the three former students at the Northern Illinois State Teachers' College who are held for the alleged mistreatment of Miss Dorothy Westervelt, a student, a week ago. Emerson Wilson, Stanley Hurt and Thomas Rich were bound over on bonds of $5000 each when they waived preliminary hearing.

The alleged attack is said to have taken place during an automobile ride. Miss Westervelt charges that, after having been beaten and mistreated by each of the three men she was tossed out on the porch of the house of one of the men. Hurt and Wilson are said to have admitted they were with the girl during the ride, but deny other charges. Miss Westervelt is a senior at the college. Her home is at Shabbona, Ill.

STATESMAN RIDES A BICYCLE

Jonkheer Makes Hit at The Hague by Peddling Through City.

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch. THE HAGUE, Holland, April 10.—Jonkheer Kan, new Dutch Secretary of State, has suddenly become very popular. A few days after entering upon his duties he mounted a bicycle and rode, bareheaded and in a short blazer, to Haarlem in order to inspect new boundaries of the Haarlem district. No one recognized the cycling statesman, who was glad thus to escape an official reception. Afterward he rode back to The Hague highly satisfied with his cycling tour.

His initiative has aroused the respect of the Dutch people, among whom the use of bicycles is highly popular. One Hollander in every five rides a bicycle.

Suffered for Years; then Discovered True Cause of Pain,
NEURITIS!

“I suffered for years with pains in my shoulders and arms. Am glad to say that after taking Eopa Neuritis Tablets, I got great relief.”
S. WARREN, Cairo, Mo.

Sharp, agonizing pains in the shoulders and arms are one of the most common symptoms of Neuritis. Other common symptoms are sore muscles, stiff joints and pains in the nape of the neck, small of the back and thighs. Yet many people make the mistake of treating Neuritis as rheumatism.

When the symptoms of Neuritis appear, don't waste time with ordinary pain killers and mere surface treatments. Neuritis is caused by inflammation deep in the nerve tissues. Its stabbing, burning pain can only be relieved by restoring the nerves to their natural healthy state.

That's why Eopa Neuritis Tablets have been regarded as the standard Neuritis remedy.

COUNTY TOWN ELECTED LAST MAYOR IN 1884

Fenton Has Almost Forgotten
Status on an Incorporated Village.

Inquiries by the engineer of the Board of Freeholders, seeking information for use in the discussion of a merger of city and county, has directed attention to the incorporation of two St. Louis County towns popularly supposed to be unincorporated.

They are Fenton, on Gravois road, which was given the status of an organized village in 1874 and elected its last Mayor 10 years later, the Government having ceased to function since then, and Bridgeton, on Natural Bridge road, which holds an election now and when the town fathers think of it.

The census still carries these places as corporate entities, having credited Fenton with a population of 146 in 1920, and Bridgeton with 121. These settlements could have an imposing list of officials, if the directors charge various taxes and even put motor cycle police men out on the highways to enforce ordinances against the traffic speeding through.

Bridgeton Has Six Trustees.
However, they don't. Fenton has just about forgotten. Its status Bridgeton does have a board of six trustees, the chairman of which is called Mayor. Frank Baber is the Mayor, but he has no city hall and no patronage list. Julius Rhenpohl is treasurer. He said it was that he had forgotten the date. The village has no specific time for elections, he added, but there was one about a year ago.

Bridgeton was incorporated in 1843, when Missouri was only 22 years old and little St. Louis was long way east. Its continued corporate existence is for the purpose of administering 1000 acres of surrounding farm land, known in the old phrase as Bridgeton Commons, which was a grant from the early Spanish Government, confirmed by Congress in 1812.

The trustees collect the extremely low rent of 10 to 75 cents an acre for the commons land, most of which goes at the lower rates, as fixed by law. The comparatively small total is paid to the district school fund. The farmers' leases were made on a 999-year basis.

One Town Has Ceased to Exist.
History of these old villages is in contrast with the incorporation of Fairview City a few months ago and its recent disincorporation because residents objected to the exercise of municipal functions. A few years ago another incorporated town, Uniondale, centering around St. Charles road, passed out of existence.

Other incorporated places in the county are Florissant (officially known as St. Ferdinand), Fern-son, Shrewsbury, Glendale, Oakland, Brentwood, Richmond Heights, Clayton, University City, Maplewood, Webster Groves, Kirkwood and Valley Park.
David Larkin, engineer of the Board of Freeholders, has reported on values of municipal property in some of the suburbs. Kirkwood has the only city-owned electric system, valued on the books at $141,284. It buys current from the Union Electric Light & Power Co. at a low wholesale rate, transforms it and retails it to the citizens. Value of other Kirkwood property was reported as city hall, $21,154; fire department, $23,187; road machinery, $10,484; garage and store room, $22,286; total, $208,346.

Webster Groves Properties.
Webster Groves figures: Two fire engines, $21,000; two engine houses, $16,500; city hall, $13,000; road machinery, $20,000; stables and tool house $6,000; total, $76,500.
Maplewood, which rents its city hall: Two fire engines, $30,000; road equipment, $10,000. Valley Park: City hall, $8,000; fire engine, $4,000. Except for University City and Clayton, where information has been withheld, the engineer believes the other suburbs do not have large property holdings.

Maplewood was found to have spent $448,113 for nine and one miles of macadam, paid for by special and general taxes. In the last five years, St. Louis, it was found in Federal figures Apr. 1923, was one of 46 cities among the first 248 in population where city receipts exceeded expenditures. Its receipts were $40.72 per capita per year and its expenditures $40.55.

The Board of Freeholders will meet at Clayton Courthouse at 8 o'clock tonight to hear Frank A.
Thompson, a county member, discuss his proposal for return of the city into the county and creation of a metropolitan area government.

GROUND BEING BROKEN FOR OSAGE COUNTRY CLUB BUILDING

Work of removing dirt for the club building, to be located on the Bend road, several days ago began, and is progressing rapidly, according to Nelson Cunliff, former president of the club, who is president of the commissioner, president of the club. Plans for the club are being checked out by Beverly T. Nelson, architect. It will cost approximately $50,000.

The new plan of financing for the club, which requires only nominal annual dues, with no entrance fee and a guarantee against all assessments, is explained by Cunliff as follows:
The owners of the Osage Hills residential district have contracted to finance the construction of golf course, tennis courts, swimming pool, club building and other features, and to take care of the expenses of upkeep. The Osage Country Club board of directors will be in complete management of the enterprise and, financially, for its membership, will only be responsible to the extent of the nominal membership dues and other minor charges incident to all clubs. The Osage Country Club is incorporated under Missouri laws for the benefit of its members and is in the charge of a realty enterprise.

MILES LOWERS WORLD RECORD IN MARATHON

Nova Scotia Runner Finishes Boston Event in 2:25:40 2-5—Stenroos, Second, Five Minutes Behind.

BOSTON, April 19.—John C. Miles of Sydney Mines, N. S., established a new world's record for the Marathon run when he won the Boston A. A. Patriots' Day race in two hours, 25 minutes and 40 seconds today. The old record, set by Clarence De Mar of Melrose, over the same course, in 1924, was 2 hours, 29 minutes, 40.5 seconds.

Albin Stenroos of Finland, Olympic marathon champion, finished second, nearly five minutes behind the leader. His time was 2 hours, 29 minutes, 40 seconds. The course was the official Olympic distance of 26 miles 385 yards. Miles cut down Stenroos' lead between Wellesley and Auburndale, a distance of four miles, and a short time later worked into first place. With three miles to go, Miles was 50 yards ahead of Stenroos and was steadily forging ahead.

A field of 88 runners started from the Tebeau Farm, Hopkinton, at noon, in the thirtieth renewal of the race. There was a chill in the air and conditions were good.

Stenroos forged ahead with Willie Carlson of Dorchester in the five-mile run to South Framingham, covering the distance in 31 minutes 14.5 seconds, the best time on record for the leg. Ten yards behind, De Mar was hunched with a score of other contestants. At Natick, nine miles from the start, Stenroos had drawn away and was leading Miles, who was in second place, by 30 yards. His time at this point was 12:21:46, which was 14 seconds better than the course record. De Mar was 50 yards behind the leader.

The course lies over a hilly route from Hopkinton to the Boston Athletic Association clubhouse.

Showing the Way

EDDIE COLLINS.

COLLINS today has so maneuvered that his team is in first place and, with a pitching staff that has started well, has an excellent pennant outlook.

Collins, before the start of the season, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that, if no injuries resulted to his men during the campaign, his club would be a pennant factor.

With two on in the first. The third was the big round, when nine men went to the plate and five scored. Single markers were picked up in the third and seventh.

GROVE HOLDS RED SOX TO THREE HITS AND ATHLETICS WIN, 3 TO 1

By the Associated Press. BOSTON, April 19.—Grove of Philadelphia gave Boston only three hits in the morning holiday game today and the Athletics won, 3 to 1. In the fifth inning Simmons hit the ball over the left field fence. In spite of the fact that it was almost freezing, each team gave its pitcher good support. Grove struck out eight men.

Fairmounts Again Crush Kansas City Eleven, 6 to 0

McGann Stars for Local Champions, Scoring Three Goals Almost in as Many Minutes.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 19.—Playing a wonderful passing game but lacking a scoring drive, the Summe soccer team, Kansas City champions, went down to defeat before the strong Fairmount Democrats, champions of the St. Louis Municipal League, yesterday at Tramway Park, 6 to 0.

It was the second of the two-game series, the first having been played at St. Louis last Sunday when the Democrats took the long end of a 1-0-0 score.

The Summe eleven, with inexperienced players, most of whom are finishing their first year in soccer, played the St. Louis team even on the field. Time after time they had open shots at the goal, only to be blocked by G. Sauter, the rangy St. Louis goalkeeper.

First Score on Free Kick. St. Louis had the better of it in the matter of corner kicks throughout the fracas, and it was the visitors scored their first tally. The kick was well directed and was settling down in perfect position for some player to tally by caroming one off the "ivory" when Gibson, Summe right halfback, in his eagerness to block it, hit the ball with his hands well within the goal area.

A free kick followed, and since it was only a matter of a few yards, with no one before the net except Jeffries, Summe goalkeeper, the tally was easily driven home from the goal, but before he could regain his feet, Mueller, inside right forward, had driven it home to make the score 2 to 0 for the visitors. Just before the whistle sounded to end the first half, St. Louis kicked one directly into the net for a distance of 15 yards. The half ended with the score: Fairmount 3, Summe 0.

Three Goals in Quick Succession. The Summe came back in the second half and carried the ball in quick succession and forced Jeffries to make several saves to keep him from scoring more.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Across the Rubicon.

THE Mississippi still remains the great obstacle to the Browns' progress. The team already is stumbling and faltering, just as last year, and the 1925 away-from-home record of the club was as lean as a razorback. The old weakness on the road has manifested itself thus early in the game.

A team to capture the pennant should win half its games away from its own town lot. But the Browns already have taken on a serious handicap on the accomplishment of this in their first five defeats.

Up to the Pitching. THE club is off to a bad start, but it is not a bad team. Unless its pitchers do worse than last season, which is hardly to be expected, the team is suffering from a belated start—which has become an annual complaint with it.

Pacemakers Handicapped. HOWEVER, pacemakers usually dwindle and sometimes it is best not to break from the barrier at too blinding a rate of speed. The team at the top must sustain the challenge of seven other clubs, each shooting its best arrows to knock over the leader. No weaklings are wasted against the league leading team. Each rival sends in its ace and tries its hardest.

When the race settles into its June stride, the four first division "picks" of the American League will hardly be found where they were this morning.

Just a "Typo." X. Y. Z.—The reference to the world's championship Browns of 1926 was a misprint. The Browns won the flag in 1886, the year in which the second of the four successive American Association flags was won by Comiskey.

Our World's Series History. THE BROWNS tied Anson's Colts for the world's title in 1885 and beat them the following year. Later they met defeat in 1887 and 1888, losing to Detroit and New York.

Principia Tank Team to Oppose Bear Swimmers

Dual Meet at Wilson Pool Tonight Will Close Indoor Aquatic Season.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

The Washington U. and Principia swimming teams met at 8 o'clock tonight in Wilson Pool. The dual contest will be the last of the season for both tank squads. The Bruins officially closed their season with their recent meet with Illinois, but accepted the Academy meet after a training layoff, a fact which will be to the advantage of the Principia paddlers.

Coach Carl Bauer will enter a mixed squad of freshmen and varsity swimmers from the Bruin ranks. In addition to the regulars whom he will start, three fresh paddlers, Heideman, Achuff and Newman, will have their test as potential performers on next year's Pikeaway team. Heideman has given real promise in the backstroke, which Achuff and Newman are dash men.

The varsity swimmers whom Bauer will enter from the squad which won its third consecutive Missouri Valley championship are Power and Cohn in the dashes, McArdle and Ullman in the breaststroke, Kaercher in the backstroke, Baer in the 100-yard swim and the 440-yard swim, Haverstick in the 440-yard swim, and Millstone and Jonas in the fancy diving. The Bears will miss particularly the services of Capt. Ewerhardt, dash man, who will not compete tonight.

Principia, with victories already over Western Military Academy and the North Side Y. M. C. A., assesses a well-balanced outfit which may send the point score to close figures in the contest. In several of the past engagements between the two teams, Coach Fred Potthoff's men have run up threatening point totals against the Pikeaway men. Two years ago, when Weston Kimbel, All-American in terscholastic dash man, led the Principia attack, a margin of but three points gave victory to the Washington team.

Two Principia swimmers who should score heavily tonight are David Stone and David Morey, sprinters, both of whom have contributed frequently to the Principia point totals during the season. Braun, who placed in the fancy diving in the Mississippi Valley Intercollegiate meet, will furnish strong competition for the Washington divers. Coach Fred Potthoff is himself a former star on the Washington tank team.

Must Be Cleared. PERHAPS John Pesek will make it unnecessary for Champion Joe Stecher to clear up that little blot on his escutcheon, placed there by the New York State Athletic Board, which recently suspended Joe.

Stecher, under the suspension, will not be permitted to wrestle in New York until he takes on Joe Malcewicz, from whom he fled the ring, at Boston. Stecher said he retired on that occasion because he had not received his money in advance; but the New York commission seems to hold with the promoters that Joe left when he found his "unknown" opponent was to be Malcewicz.

Pesek, by beating Stecher April 29, could render the ruling null and void. Pesek then will be champion, not Joe.

Stecher should not dodge Malcewicz, if he beats Pesek. A champion should conduct himself as one and not be put in the ridiculous attitude of running away from a second-rate—if Malcewicz really is that.

He Beat Plestina. MALCEWICZ recently accomplished a feat that no wrestler had been able to do in nine years—throw the giant Jugo-Slav, Martin Plestina.

That would seem to mean Malcewicz is a tough bird, and that Joe may have had good reason to beat it from the ring in Boston for fear of having a stunt pulled on him, such as Stan Zyzko pulled on Big Munn.

However, Malcewicz is said to be in the stable of Bill Sandow, who wanted to put one over on Joe. As Plestina is now said to have broken with Ole Marsh and gone over to Sandow, it may mean that stable mates were competing, not rivals.

And we all know what a wonderful circus master Sandow is.

PAINTER'S TAXES

Alone Consume the Revenues from More than 1/5th of this Railroad's Mileage

Consider the above statement again—the earnings of more than 1,100 miles of the Louisville & Nashville's 5,042 miles of road are required to satisfy the tax collectors, local, city and federal. Railroad taxes are constantly and uninterruptedly increasing from year to year, the staggering sum of one million dollars per day having been paid by American railroads during the year 1925 in various forms of taxation.

This Railroad's net revenue for 1925, after paying all direct operating costs and before the payment of taxes and various corporate expenses, was $6,712,000 per mile. The total tax accruals, including property assessments for public improvements, reached the high-water mark of $7,400,000.

A simple calculation, therefore, shows that the revenues of 22% of this Road's mileage were paid into the public treasuries for purposes of taxation. Last year the Louisville & Nashville Railroad's taxes were substantially greater than the amount of money paid in dividends to the owners of this property, who assume all risk and responsibility for the Road's operation.

Railroads of the United States are not only affording the best transportation system on the face of the globe, but they are, by their tax payments, making possible the operation of schools, the building of roads and the support and maintenance of city, state and federal institutions.

A. B.—A constant reader.—Take the violin to a dealer in order to determine its value.

READER.—Mound City is a name popularly given to St. Louis on account of the numerous artificial mounds that occupied the site on which the city is built.

A. M.—Harry Thaw killed Stanford White on Madison Square roof garden, June 25, 1906. He met Evelyn Nesbit in 1901 when she was a chorus girl and married her in 1905 against his mother's wishes.

R. E. D.—The zodiac is an imaginary belt in the heavens divided into 12 equal parts of 30 degrees each, with a sign for each part. The signs are: Aries, "the ram"; Taurus, "the bull"; Gemini, "the twins"; Cancer, "the crab"; Leo, "the lion"; Virgo, "the virgin"; Libra, "the balance"; Scorpio, "the scorpion"; Sagittarius, "the archer"; Capricorn, "the goat"; Aquarius, "the water carrier"; Pisces, "the fishes".

STOCK MARKET

U. S. Steel Does Not Hold Early Gain, Selling Near Close Following Comment by Gary on Company's Dividend Attitude

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 19.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial column today said: "A slight improvement in the demand for speculative securities, combined with easy money and another break in French francs featured a dull session in financial markets today. Prices in many of the substantial industrial stocks moved slightly higher, although there were scattered weak spots. U. S. Steel and Armour stock were under close watch. Advances of 1 point to 2 points in specialties were frequent. Rail bonds featured the inverted market, with increased demand in second grade issues causing good advances. Government issues eased off some, but foreign government bonds were quiet and steady. Traction and other utility bonds were quiet. Industrials were steady. Money and grain was freely offered and after a few minutes the rate on the Stock Exchange dropped 4 per cent."

Annual Steel Meeting.—Probably the most interesting development of the day so far as the financial district was concerned, was the annual meeting of the United States Steel Corporation in Hoboken. Statements of E. H. Gary, chairman, are always awaited with interest, but his talk at today's meeting was expected to be particularly important, for it followed shortly after the company's twenty-first anniversary. Judge Gary announced, therefore, that the time was approaching to say good-bye to the company's anniversary. He was taken to mean that he intended to announce his retirement before the next annual session. Something of a controversy developed over the corporation's dividend policy when a stockholder criticized the dividend of $25,000,000 of last year's earnings to plant improvements. Intimating that the money should have gone to stockholders in increased dividends. The meeting appeared to have little effect on the market outside of the fact that traders showed a disposition to re-evaluate commitments until after Judge Gary spoke. U. S. Steel was up more than a point in the forenoon, but before the end of the day had fallen back 2 points from the top.

Mixed Trend in Stocks.—The leading stocks lacked a definite trend, advances in the forenoon being followed by reactions on profit-taking in the afternoon. Virtually all the business originated with professionals on the floor of the exchange and public speculators. The market declined waiting for indications of a resumption of a definite movement in either direction. Motor shares were directed to selling pressure for a time on the announcement of curtailed operations by Hudson Motor, but little progress was made in pressing either this group or the rest as a whole. Aside from U. S. Steel, most of the stocks in this group were higher, while motor and accessories ruled firm and rails showed an upward tendency. Specialties were well supported.

Another New Low for Franc.—Fluctuations in foreign exchanges followed the same trend that prevailed last week. French francs were again offered at concessions in the face of weak support and fell to another record low level of less than 31-32, while Belgian and French francs were barely steady and steady ruled. The Spanish exchange again developed strength and advanced to a new high level for the year at 14-16, but slightly later. Norwegian crowns were higher in response to the decision of the National Bank of Norway to raise the discount rate from 6 to 8 per cent. Japanese and Chinese exchanges again took a divergent course, yen advancing to a new high for the year and rates on Hongkong and Shanghai falling to new low levels.

The report also shows a decrease in the total amount of clearings for the month of April, 1926, as compared with the same month last year.

THE RED LAMP

MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

Chapter 16.

Sunday, July 15.

The one pleasure that never fails is the pleasure of not going to church.

Again, as I recorded once before, a quiet morning and I am still at large. Jane has gone. Sometimes I suspect Jane of throwing a sop to Providence in this matter of church-going; almost, one might say, of bargaining with the Almighty. "I will do this and so," says Jane to herself, "and in return I have a right to ask this and so."

Yet she asks little enough: a quiet life, peace, and if not active happiness, that resignation which after the hot days of youth are over, passes for contentment. And as she went out this morning, demurely dressed in the Sabbath-day restraint which is a part of her bargain, I felt rather than said a small prayer for her: that she who asks so little may keep what she has.

And Jane is worried. She knows nothing, but she suspects everything. By that, I mean that she is somehow aware, after her own curious fashion, that there is something wrong with her world. She watches me, when I am not looking at her. She has an odd, rather furtive, dislike of Doctor Hayward. And she is almost criminally forward Edith's love affair.

Since Halliday was brought here Jane and I have shared her bedroom, and this morning, buttoning my collar, I said:

"The sooner that boy goes back to the boat-house, the better."

"Why?" she demanded, almost militantly.

"Well, if you can't see what's going on under your eyes, my dear

"I don't see why it shouldn't go on. There's not too much love in the world."

"Nor enough bread and cheese."

"We didn't have very much when we started, William," she said, looking up at me wistfully.

"And we haven't much more now," I said, and kissed her.

But the plain truth is that Jane's nerves are shaken. She wants Edith settled; she would like nothing better than a speedy marriage, if that would take us back to the city at once. All her old hatred and distrust of the place have been steadily reviving, and the attack on Halliday has about eaten away her resistance.

All life is the resistance of an undecipherable principle against an encroaching force. And my poor Jane, after years of protected life, is only discovering those unceasing forces.

Later: Poor Carroway's body has been found. The tide was up usually low at two this afternoon and a yawl from Bass Cove, crossing the bay, saw it floating face down, and recovered it, not without difficulty. The poor lad had been tied with the anchor thrown over him. Thus for the body has been only a few feet beneath the surface, floating at the end of its tragic tether.

From the doctor, making his afternoon call here, we heard the details. He was summoned as soon as the body was brought in, and made a hasty examination. From that it appears that Carroway was beaten over the head first and then thrown into the sea.

"He was probably dead before he touched the water," is Hayward's opinion. "Of course the autopsy will tell that. If there is no water in the middle ear or the lungs, we can be certain."

But from Peter Gels, who wandered in this afternoon after salvaging certain of his personal possessions from the scum, we learned other facts. Thus, Peter declares that the man who killed Carroway was a sailor, or at least knew how to use a rope, sailor-fashion.

And as Halliday said to me, aside, this was cheering news, for my best friend could not accuse me of any nautical knowledge.

The body, it seems, was tied with two half-hitches around the wrists; from there the rope extended to the ankle, with similar half-hitches, and to these ends, again, the anchor had been affixed. To my query as to whether such a proceeding would not take considerable time Peter says not.

"Two half-hitches is about the quickest and easiest tie there is," he assures me, "and the best to hold. If it slips one way it holds another."

There is, it seems to me, a certain relish in Peter's account of the gruesome details; a gusto in the telling. Like the ancient Greeks, Peter's literary is purely oral, and he has by accident stumbled on an epic.

But the recovery of the body has roused the neighborhood to fever heat. There have been those, up to now, who have half-believed that Carroway had been the victim of an accident; had somehow stumbled and fallen overboard, and to prove this they brought out the fact that like many of the men on the waterside, he could not swim.

There are others, too, who still inclined to the belief that some supernatural influence had been at work; that Carroway, indeed, had been the victim of some other-worldly foul play. But even these superstitious folk cannot now blame the red lamp. Carroway has been murdered, by hands which wielded the oar that struck him, and which tied the half-hitches which "if they slipped one way, held the other."

The anchor presents the only possible clue, and that is a feeble one. There was no anchor in the boat Carroway took out. On the other hand, there is a sort of half-hearted recognition of it by Doctor Hayward as one stolen from his small knock-about sometime late in June.

"Of course, all these anchors are as like as peas," he said this afternoon, "but the boys down at the wharf say it's mine, and they can tell two fish-hooks apart, same size and same kind." * * *

The county authorities have finally roused themselves and the Sheriff, Benchley, is in Oakville. Under the excuse of examining our float Greenough brought him out, and Halliday dressed and went with them, to show where he had found the knife. On their return they stopped in and looked at my car.

When Halliday came back he was grave and quiet. In vain did Edith try to coax him into his usual light-heartedness. While I have no idea as to what happened, I can make a fair guess, for he announced at supper that he was through playing the invalid.

"It's time for me to be up and about," he said.

Benchley has increased the County's reward to $2500, and this with Livingston's makes $3000. As a result, until twilight frightened them back to their hearths, the vicinity was filled this afternoon with amateur detectives. According to Annie Cochran, one of them was skulking around the hedge of the main house when Mr. Bethel saw him and drove him off.

Just what that irritable and exclusive gentleman makes of the situation, I do not know. He must have learned, through Gordon, of our trouble here, but he makes no sign. Now and then, but not often, I see him on the terrace, and if he acknowledges my finger to my cap, I do not see him.

He is so consistently unpleasant that one must respect it, as consistency of any sort is respected.

His position is rather strengthened than weakened by today's developments, and I imagine Greenough himself is somewhat at sea. Not only am I no sailor, and obviously no sailor, but I am not a physically muscular man. Now and then, but not often, I see him on the terrace, and if he acknowledges my finger to my cap, I do not see him.

I could no more strangle a man than I could bulldoze a steer. And unless Greenough is more beaten with prejudices and theory than I think he is, he must know this. He has, in addition, a slowly growing list of qualifications, all of which the murderer must possess, and few of which are mine.

The murderer is physically strong. I am not. The murderer (or at least Halliday's assailant) wore a soft dark hat, well pulled down, and a summer straw. No other. The murderer had a sailor's knowledge of a rope. I haven't the slightest knowledge of a rope, except that it is used on Mondays to hang out the washing.

On only two points do I plead guilty, and there with reservations. For the murderer shows a knowledge of the countryside, not only equal to my own, but better. And Halliday says he got into the car as would a man of middle life, rather than youth. I am middle-aged—if that be not the next period just ahead and never quite reached, until some day we waken to find that we have passed it in the night and are now old, and taking an ingenious pride in that age.

CHAPTER 17.

July 16th.

I am facing an unusual quandary, which is: shall I or shall I not attend poor Carroway's funeral tomorrow? What is the customary etiquette under the circumstances? Does the suspected agent of the death remain decorously absent, the only one in the entire neighborhood so missing? Or does he go, with a countenance carefully set to show exactly the polite amount of concern, and be suspected as the dog returning to his vomit?

There is an old theory—I would like to question Greenough about it. If I dared—that your true murderer has an avid curiosity as to the work of his hands; that, against all prudence, he returns to it. Under these circumstances, what shall I do?

Compromise, probably, send more flowers than I can afford, and stay at home. The same sort of compromise which I effected with my soul yesterday, when I gave Jane a rather larger amount than usual for the collection plate.

One of the reporters who has been hanging around the vicinity since the recovery of the body approached me today on a possible connection between the murder and the attack on Halliday. I found him coming out of the garage, but as Greenough had carefully erased the symbol on the seat cushion, I doubt if he had found anything valuable.

He pried me with polite questions, but I evaded him as well as I could.

"But don't you, personally, believe there is some connection?" he insisted.

"I should have to have some proof of such a connection."

"And you have none?" he asked, eying me closely.

"I imagine you know at least as much about it as I do. Have you found any?"

Perhaps my attitude had annoyed him, or perhaps he merely had the discoverer's pride in achievement, for he put away the handful of yellow paper, on which he had made no notes, and smiled.

"I haven't found any connection," he said. "But I have found something your detectives missed. Mr. Porter, I have found where the fellow hid after the crash, when the other car was rescuing Mr. Halliday."

But the odd part of that discovery to my mind is not that hiding place, no Greenough's failure to locate it. As a matter of fact, I doubt if Greenough has ever looked for it. He seems to have taken for granted that Halliday's assailant merely escaped the wreck and made off in the dark.

No. The point that strikes me, and struck Halliday when I told him is the intimate knowledge of that location shown, and the quickness with which he took advantage of it.

(Note: In view of what we now know, I imagine this is an error. The chances seem to be that he was thrown near the mouth of the culvert, and that the lights of the on-coming car showed it to him.)

Crossing the road, according to the reporter, and about 15 feet from where the car was ditched, is a small culvert. Hardly a culvert, either, but a largeish clay pipe designed to carry the drainage of the higher fields on one side to the lower on the other.

"Have you searched this pipe?" I asked.

"I looked in. If I'd had a pair of overalls I'd have gone in. But as the only clothes I have with me are on me," he smiled again. "It's a good job for a ferret," he said.

I gave me up reluctantly, at last, and prepared to go.

"So you think it's only an ordinary case of hold-up?" he asked.

"I think it's a damned unpleasant case of hold-up," I replied, and went away. But I have been thinking of his phrase since his departure.

How much of the present world disorganization lies in that very use of the word "ordinary"? Time was when no hold-up was ordinary, and an act of physical violence or a murder caused a shock that swept us all. It is true, then, that one cannot turn the minds of a people to killing, as in the recent war, and then expect them at once, when the crisis is over, to regard life as precious? And is this the reason Greenough spoke of its being a "queer time in the world?"

Is every criminal then merely seeking to escape from reality? But why the word "criminal"? Was not I myself seeking to escape it, when on June 16 I wrote in this very Journal:

"Yet what is it that I want? My little rut is comfortable, so long have I lain in it that now my very body has conformed."

For the rest of this afternoon, I have made my will! To my dearly beloved wife, Jane Porter, I bequeath, etc.

There is something strangely comforting in making a will; it is as if one has completed the last rites, and now, with such complacency may be, faces whatever is to come. Like Ishmael in "Moby Dick," I survive myself, my death and burial are locked up in my desk. I am "like a quiet ghost with a clear conscience, sitting in my breath, etc."

side the bars of a snug family vault."

A ghost, too, I begin to feel, among other ghosts.

Ignore it as I will, there is a certain weight in the slowly accumulating mass of evidence at my disposal, a weight and a consistency which have commenced to influence me. I am bound to admit that, if I were able to conceive of the survival of intelligence beyond death, I could also conceive that poor old Horace has been on hand during some of our recent experiences.

Not Thomas "George," the spirit evoked by Mrs. Higgs and still surviving in the lamp; not some malicious demon, frightening honest folk by ringing bells and pinching women in the dark. But a mind like my own, only greater in its wider knowledge, and painfully trying in its bodiless state to communicate that knowledge to me.

The sum total of evidence is rather startling.

(a) Jane's photograph, taken on class day.

(b) Joe's refusal to enter the main house, persisted in to this time.

(c) My own curious telepathic message, relative to the letter.

(d) Jane's experience under the red lamp in the pantry. (Doubtful.)

(e) Halliday's lights over the marsh. (Again doubtful. It may have been the unknown, finding the boathouse occupied and seeking a way to the beach.)

(f) My own experience in hearing Uncle Horace's peculiar cough and smelling the odor of his asthma pastilles, or cigarettes.

(g) Joe's peculiar conduct at the Center—Smart pajamas of printed border silk in blue and gold.

able to see and hear what cannot be seen and heard by normal eyes and ears. But as I grant this same faculty to Joe, it seems to me to be rather a question of ordinary limitations than of a peep-hole, as I may put it, into another world.

On the other hand, I must not disregard the fact that Jane seems an essential part of the phenomena which I have recorded. On the two occasions when I have had the strongest impression of some disembodied presence, she has been asleep near by. In the case of the photograph, it was Jane who operated the camera; in the pantry of the main house it was Jane who saw the face behind her, reflected in the window. And so on.

I am driven to wondering if, in some states, Jane herself does not provide the medium of these manifestations. Whether she does not throw off some excess of vital matter, in which the poor naked and disembodied intelligence may clothe itself.

But that is to accept the whole theory of spiritualism, and I am not prepared to do that; to travel with Cameron and Little Pettingill, weighing in the dying with the one and claiming that the purely chemical loss of weight is the weight of the soul; and sitting in the dark with the other, asking nonphysical intelligences to commit various physical acts! Putting their belief in eternity into the grasping hands of a paid medium, and seeing God in the pulling of a black thread.

Which reminds me of an amusing conversation at luncheon today, Halliday's last meal with us before returning to the boat-house.

"What becomes of all the mediums?" Edith asked suddenly, apropos of nothing at all.

"What becomes of all the hairpins and dead birds?" I asked, not too originally.

"But it is queer," she persisted. "These women come and make a furor. Then all at once they disappear."

"They get discovered and then quit," Halliday said. "And of course even a medium must die in time. Not that they actually die, of course. They simply go into the fourth dimension."

"And what's the fourth dimension?"

"Why, don't you know?" he asked. "The simplest thing in the world. It's the cube of a cube. And once you get into it you can turn yourself inside out like a glove. Not that I see any particular use in that, but it might be interesting."

Edith, it appears, intends to write an article on mediums! (To Be Continued.)

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly over the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—this is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge if you wish. But never leave them on overnight. They close pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Follow these rules day in and day out. Your skin will be soft and lovely—naturally colorful and clear.

Ringneck the Pheasant

The arrogant so off offend.
They very seldom have a friend.

Hiary

"My dear," said he to Mrs. Bob White, "I hope the Ringnecks do not have a big family."

THE two strangers who had come to the Green Meadows were Mr. and Mrs. Ringneck the Pheasants. It was Ringneck whom Peter had heard crowing and whom he had seen strutting to be admired by Mrs. Ringneck. The latter was a very sober little person. She was somewhat shy and modest. But Ringneck himself—well, there was nothing modest about him. He was fully aware that he was handsomely dressed, and he did his best to make every one else aware of it.

From the very beginning no one liked him. That was because he looked down on everyone. Whenever he thought anyone was looking at him he would strut and show off. People of that kind seldom are liked. But though his neighbors didn't like him, they were forced to admit that he was handsome. He was so handsome that they just had to look at him, and, of course, this was just what Ringneck enjoyed.

Of course, all his neighbors were very anxious to know where Ringneck came from. But they didn't find out anything from him. He didn't seem at all anxious to tell where he and Mrs. Ringneck came from. It was Tommy Tilt the Chickadee who told how the Ringnecks had arrived. Tommy had happened to be in the Old Orchard when early one morning Farmer Brown's Boy brought a box out there and opened it. Out walked Mr. and Mrs. Ringneck. That was as much as Tommy knew, and that was as much as anyone ever found out.

Now, as a matter of fact, Mr. and Mrs. Ringneck had no business in America. America never had been the home of the Pheasant family. Like Bully the English Sparrow and Speckles the Starling, the Pheasants had been brought from across the great ocean by men. They were brought in order that hunters might shoot them in the name of sport.

Mr. and Mrs. Ringneck had acted from the first as if they owned the Green Meadows and the Green Forest and the Old Orchard. This was especially true of Ringneck. There wasn't a bushful feather on him. He didn't care what other people thought about him so long as they admired him. He appeared to think that he had a right to anything he wanted. He was for all the world like Bully the English Sparrow on a large scale.

When food becomes scarce I am afraid we Bob Whites might have a hard time of it. Certainly, I haven't seen anything about Ringneck to lead me to believe that he would share his food with anyone else. He is one of the most selfish people I ever have seen. He's looking out for No. 1, you can be sure of that. I don't see why he was brought here. I don't see why these men folk cannot be satisfied to leave things as Old Mother Nature designed them. They are forever upsetting things. Meanwhile, Ringneck and Mrs. Ringneck were perfectly satisfied with their new surroundings, and Mrs. Ringneck presently was seen only once in a while. Everyone guessed what that meant. She had a nest somewhere. Jimmy Skunk spent hours looking for it.

Springtime Beauty Hints

By Lucrezia Bori

THE arrival of warm weather makes all of us take stock of our clothes, and all the more discerning of us take stock of our good looks.

For spring and summer, the face should be clear, lovely and bright. The hair should be clear, lovely and bright. The hair should be clear, lovely and bright. The hair should be clear, lovely and bright.

LUCREZIA BORI

I mention the value of general good looks in connection with new clothes, because the season of the year which makes all our winter clothes seem drab is the best season to take stock of our good looks. You want to feel your loveliness and freshest to keep pace with the outdoors, and to do this you must consider every small beauty point.

First, there's the question of your complexion and hair. You must know that the real beauty principle underlying beauty of complexion and hair is health. I suggest that you drink water, lots of it, eight glasses a day. This is a wonderfully effective tonic toward an attractive, clear complexion, and a more lasting one than all the beauty creams in the world.

Then there's the matter of green vegetables. This is the season when such foods are beginning to be more plentiful and cheaper, therefore an excellent time to resolve to partake of your share of all the fresh green vegetables you can procure.

These two are the principal steps I suggest to make you healthier inside, and thus improve your outward appearance. Plenty of water, green vegetables and exercise will do wonders for you.

Then there are ever so many small outward signs, and which of these you need to regard most you will have to decide for yourselves. I may suggest a new coiffure, immaculate fingernails, perfectly groomed shoes and stockings. All these points contribute their share toward loveliness.

Selecting the Rug.

WHEN buying a rug it is often a perplexing question whether it shall be a plain or figured one. The room in which it is to be placed should decide this.

Now, in the dining room, for instance, the rug will roll more readily than in other rooms so, for practical purposes, this rug should be figured. A plain rug will show spots from spilled foods, etc., whereas, the pattern in the figured rug will conceal these blemishes.

If you have a large room that looks cold and uninviting, put in a bright rug with a large pattern (preferably a medallion design) and you will have a nice, comfy looking room.

A plain rug, in a subdued tone, will make a small room look large.

er. If the living room is overcrowded with upholstered furniture select a plain rug in an inconspicuous color or one with very small figures.

Chose bright, colorful rugs for the bedrooms. It is a pretty custom to have the bedroom rug match or harmonize closely with the hangings. Many housewives prefer scattered rugs in the bedroom, and in this case a jasper background is effective.

There are women who soon tire of a plain rug, and the fact that every foot print shows makes this rug objectionable. These women should select a small all-over design or one with a jasper design.

The Man on the Sandbox

SO'S YOUR OLD MAN.
WHEN son, his allowance at college had spent.
To father the following message he sent:
"Am broke, send me fifty as soon as you can."
And got a reply reading: "So's your old man!"

ABSOLUTELY.
THERE little fan don't cry.
The weather is cool, I know.
And to you it seems That the sun's warm beams
Are things of the long ago.
But an egg in the sun will shortly fry—
There, little fan, don't cry!

MOONSHINE.
We say the moon move is like dogs barking at the moon but they can't keep the moon from shining.
Which recalls the famous remark of another famous Mayor of other days who said: "Well, we got moon yet 'aint it?"

The man on the sandbox says there seems to be two sides to every question, the wet side and the dry side.

Incidentally Senator Reed seems to be getting quite a kick out of the dries.

The wets are hoing an up-hill row but their motto is "Never say die!"

The result of the recent primaries in Illinois would indicate that Frank L. Smith pulled the full Smith vote.

See where the A. S. L. is out after Gen. Andrews' scalp. Put none but teetotalers on guard their w. w.

Nicholas Murray Butler was a house guest at the White House the other day. Up dries, and at em!

That owl that invaded President Coolidge's room doesn't seem to care a heat where he goes.

ALL SQUARE.
See where Joe Bush got his on his first start. But so did Tom Zachary, so that, as the feller says, is that.

The Browns' debut in Chicago was not the glittering success we had hoped for but as the boy in the press box remarked the season is still young and will improve with age.

"Archers Trim Golfers in Strange Contest."
Indicating that the golfers were not the kind that make a practice of "drawing the longbow."

Former Kaiser Wilhelm would like to move to Switzerland. What you might call putting a Swiss movement in the watch on the Rhine.

"Clay County Druggists Can Fill Liquor Prescriptions."
But will they?

"Arkansas College Girls Cast Vote for Little Make-up."
Aha stuff, girls! Keep that drug store complexion.

REAL ESTATE IN PECHAN'S NAME WORTH $100,000

Property Not Listed on Books of Missing Dealer Found by Auditors of His Accounts.

HOPEFUL SIGN FOR HIS CREDITORS

If Found Not to Be Incumbered May Materially Reduce Clients' Losses Estimated at $250,000.

Auditors at work on the real estate accounts of Thomas F. Pechan, real estate dealer at Twelfth street and Russell boulevard, who has been missing from his office and home since last Tuesday, today discovered that he had real estate valued at about $100,000 in his own name of which there is no record on his books.

An immediate investigation was set on foot to determine if this property is incumbered and if any part of it can be salvaged for the benefit of Pechan's customers and creditors, who, it has been stated, may suffer losses aggregating $250,000 through his alleged irregular transactions.

The discovery of this asset, it was said by Conrad Faehn, one of the attorneys for the receiver of the company, is a hopeful sign that losses to Pechan's customers may be reduced.

Stains of the Inquiry.
The auditors on Pechan's real estate accounts are hard at work to determine as quickly as possible to what extent his liabilities exceed his assets, said Faehn. "All we have been able to determine up to this time is that many persons will suffer losses through transactions in deeds of trust with Pechan. Some may lose their life savings. We have found many instances where the Police Commissioner Kortjohn with irregular transactions, did other questionable things."

When asked if prosecution of Pechan would be instituted, Faehn said:

"It would not surprise me. That, however, is a matter for the people who have lost money through irregular transactions by Pechan."

It was learned today that Pechan took $100,000 cash from the real estate business with him when he left St. Louis a week ago after being confronted by Police Commissioner Kortjohn with irregularities in transactions affecting the Bohemian-American Building & Loan Association, of which he was secretary. He left his wife without funds and she now is being cared for by friends.

Kortjohn, attorney for the building and loan association, today said it appears at this time that the association's affairs will not be seriously involved in Pechan's failure. It seems that Pechan's operations were checked just as he was beginning to go to the association for money with which to cover losing transactions in real estate.

Thirty blank paid-up stock certificates of the association are missing, and these are causing some uneasiness to officials of the association. They were torn from the stock book in which they were bound, and nothing put on the stubs to show whether they were issued to customers.

Stock Certificates Missing.
Whether these were filled out and sold to customers or otherwise, the certificates were not numbered by the printer. All other certificates issued were recorded on the books and have been checked with the accounts of customers. Any of the missing 30 that might appear in the hands of customers possibly would be a claim against the association.

A score of men and women, most of them Bohemian, countrymen of Pechan, with whom he had a large business, were in line at the office when they opened today to have their accounts with the association and real estate business checked by the auditors.

Most of them first inquire if Pechan is coming back. They are told he has not communicated with his office or family since his hasty departure.
